ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

FINAL

Vol. 76. No. 8. (76th Year) ST. LOUIS, SATURDAY, JANUARY 9, 1954—18 PAGES PRICE 5 CENTS

CITY URGES HALT ON P.S. CO. FARE INCREASES AND CUTS IN SERVICE

Brief Contends Present Schedule Provides Equitable Return, and Rise Will Not Improve Operations.

It is time to call a halt to the St. Louis Public Service Co. policy of "charging more and more for less and less service," City Counselor Samuel H. Liberman said today in opposing the transit firm's request for fare increases which would amount to $1,500,000 a year.

Liberman filed a brief with the Missouri Public Service Commission in Jefferson City. Contending that present bus and streetcar fares provide an equitable return and that higher fares would not improve the quality of the service, he said:

"The situation has now reached the stage when it becomes the duty of the commission to refuse to give its sanction to the continuation of the policy and practice of higher fares, less service, loss and alienation of passengers."

Warns of Breakdown.

If continued, the prevailing policy can lead only to ultimate breakdown of the transportation system, the brief asserted.

St. Louis county joined the city in opposition to the proposed fare increase and establishment of more zones. John J. McAtee, county counselor, and his assistant, Herman Barken, sent a memorandum to the Public Service Commission. They said the entire proposal was "unfair and inequitable" and should be denied.

Public Service has had seven rate increases in the last six years. The average fare has jumped from 8.9 cents in the 1936-1940 base period to 15.99 cents, an increase of 79.7 per cent, Liberman said, and total passenger revenue has soared from $13,188,000 in 1939 to $22,414,000 in 1953.

He emphasized that these fare increases have been accompanied by decreases in passengers, in mileage covered by busses and streetcars and in average speed of vehicles.

The number of passengers has dropped from 147,745,000 to 137,720,000, the brief continued; vehicle miles decreased from 43,626,000 to 31,897,000, and average speed declined from 11.32 miles per hour to 10.63.

These figures bear out the contention that mass transit is a sick industry, and that Public Service Co.'s property, patronage and operations are in a state of rapid decline, Liberman said, adding that they also prove the firm has been charging more and more for less and less service.

As a sick industry, mass transit is not entitled to the return allowed utilities for whose services there is a constant and growing demand, he argued.

Company's Financial Position.

Taking another tack, Liberman said the proposed fare increases are not necessary to maintain the company's financial integrity.

He pointed out that Public Service Co., since it came out of receivership in 1939, has reduced its funded debt from $27,103,000 to $3,350,000; paid out $10,500,000 in dividends; accumulated an earned surplus of $7,000,000, and increased its depreciation reserve from $9,500,000 to $16,000,000.

Value of its common stock has soared from 40 cents to $13.25, he continued, and the company recently declared a dividend of $1.40 on the common stock, the highest in its history.

About 50 per cent of the company's net original-cost base is made up of unproductive street railway property, and such functional obsolescence makes the real value of street railway property for rate-making purposes less than its investment cost, Liberman argued.

The company is seeking, among other revisions in the fare structure, a system of zone fares which would produce about one-third of the $1,500,000 increase in annual revenue.

EISENHOWER RULES OUT ANY REQUEST FOR UMT NOW

Wants New Study, and Perhaps Drastic Overhaul of Military Reserve System Before Acting.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP) — President Eisenhower today ruled out any Administration request for universal military training legislation pending a new study—and perhaps a drastic overhaul—of the military reserve system.

His decision appeared to eliminate the chance that Congress would get an Administration UMT bill this session, despite last month's recommendation of a presidential commission that the "token training" of 100,000 men be started next Jan. 1 or earlier.

Eisenhower disclosed his stand in a letter to Arthur S. Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization. He said he agreed "in general" with recommendations made by Flemming and by a special ODM committee calling for postponement of UMT pending possible reorganization of the reserves.

The ODM report was based on a Defense Department estimate, previously unannounced, that the armed forces will need an average of 3,000,000 men in uniform from now through 1960. About 3,300,000 now are in the military establishment.

Under this estimate, Selective Service needs could be filled while enough young men would be left to start a token UMT. But the ODM report held that another emergency of the scope of Korea would upset the calculation, hence no training program should now be launched that might interfere with the draft.

Flemming said, "We do not now have reserve forces adequately organized and trained to meet the needs of a national emergency."

He suggested a realignment of

SNOWMAKER HIRED WHEN CLOUDS FAIL VERMONT SKI AREA

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

MANCHESTER, Vt., Jan. 9—This Green Mountain town, aware that weather is a prime force in its prosperity, has hired a snowmaker.

The snowmaker, Wallace E. Howell, is better known as a rainmaker. He was hired last year to replenish the New York City reservoirs. Now he has a contract to wring the reluctant snow from the clouds, drop it on the Bromley Mountain ski area and so attract needed business to the town.

For years there has been plenty of snow, and the business people took it for granted. This year the snows didn't come on schedule. Business was bad. Six inn operators of Manchester and nerghboring Peru got together to solve the problem. They started collecting funds and in two days had received $5000 from an area which has only about 2000 permanent residents.

JAPANESE IN-LAWS HOSTS TO G.I. WHO RENOUNCED REDS

TOKYO, Jan. 9 (AP) — Cpl. Claude Batchelor, who renounced Communism and returned to Allied control, spent his first pass today with the family of his Japanese wife. He has been in Tokyo army hospital since his return New Year's day.

The parents and sister of his wife, Kyoko, greeted Batchelor warmly. He played with a cat which he and Kyoko had bought before their Shinto ceremony marriage five years ago. Kyoko had mentioned the cat, Tama, in her letters to Batchelor which he admits played a big part in his deciding to ask repatriation.

The Kermit (Tex.) soldier and his wife had planned to go dancing during his first pass, but their time was too short. He left the hospital just after noon and was due back at 11 p.m.

FIVE PUPS BORN TO THE NIXONS' DOG, CHECKERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UP) — Checkers, Vice President Nixon's famous pedigreed cocker spaniel, has given birth to five black and white pups. The father is unknown.

Checkers became prominent when Nixon, who was 41 years old today, mentioned her in a nation-wide radio and television broadcast during the 1952 election campaign. The publicity did not go to her head. She just wanted to settle down and have a family. The proud mother and offspring, curled up in the Nixon basement near the furnace, are doing nicely.

Checkers was an unknown Texas-born cocker until Nixon's broadcast in defense of his "expense fund." He told how a Texas admirer had sent the cocker, then a pup, to the Nixons and how the Nixon daughters, Tricia, 7 years old, and Julie, 5, named it Checkers.

MAN AND GIRL, 7, KILLED WHEN FIRE DESTROYS HOME

Son Tries to Rescue Victims Near Alton by Ramming His Truck Into House.

Amrel Sanders, 68 years old, and his 7-year-old daughter, Margaret, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their four-room frame home two miles west of Alton last night.

Sanders's son, Russell Sanders, who lives next door, made an attempt to save his father and sister by battering a corner of the blazing structure with his truck, but the truck caught fire.

The charred body of the elder Sanders was found within 10 feet of a doorway. Margaret's body was on the springs of a burned bed.

A neighbor, John Courtway, discovered the front of the house ablaze at 10:30 o'clock, shortly after Mrs. Amrel Sanders and a granddaughter, Lucille, 13, had gone to Russell Sanders's home for medicine for Margaret, who had been ill.

Origin of the fire was undetermined. The house was on a road known as Boy Scout lane, off State Rouse 100. Two unoccupied frame structures near the Sanders home also were destroyed by the blaze.

TONS OF RELIEF CLOTHING COMBED FOR 'LOST' RING

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 9 (AP)—While loading a bag with clothes to be sent to Pusan fire victims, Mrs. Albert Ehlert of Salt Lake City lost a diamond ring. She asked authorities of the clothes for Korea drive to search for the ring.

The Army at the port of Stockton in California offered to search through 175,000 pounds of clothing with a metals detector to find the ring. A 20-ton semi-trailer loaded with clothes was combed thoroughly.

Mrs. Ehlert found the ring yesterday in her kitchen cupboard. Now drive officials are trying to find the owners of two other rings found during the search.

CEYLON DANCERS THREATEN TO BOYCOTT QUEEN'S VISIT

COLOMBO, Jan. 9 (AP)—The ritual dancers of Kandy, the ancient capital of Ceylon, are threatening to boycott the visit of Queen Elizabeth II next April unless they can put on a special show for her.

The dancers, who perform in richly jeweled costumes, would add much glamour to the welcome. However Ceylon's economic situation has given rise to demands for holding costs down to a minimum for the queen's reception.

50 Riders Launch Shrewsbury Bus Run With Coffee, Doughnuts

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

Members of the Shrewsbury citizens' committee, after battling for more than a year for Public Service Co. bus service, were on hand an hour and a half before sun-up this morning to be among the first jubilant passengers on the inaugural run.

Some 50 persons, including Mayor H. A. Brockland and other Shrewsbury city officials and representatives of Kirkwood and Webster Groves in addition to the citizens' committee, joyfully boarded the bus at Summit and Lockwood avenues, Webster Groves at 5:45 o'clock. They paid their fares and rode a round-trip, through Shrewsbury into the Chippewa loop and back.

The passengers and bus driver consumed two gallons of coffee and 60 doughnuts which thoughtfully had been provided by Mrs. Will A. Rosene, chairman of the citizens' committee. The driver——"Just call me Carl"——drove carefully so that the coffee would not spill over the passengers' laps.

A "glad-to-have-you-aboard" scroll was signed by each of the initial-run passengers and left in care of the driver for other "charter riders" to sign today.

The service, an extension of the Mackenzie bus line, was provided on order of the Missouri Public Service Commission over opposition of the Public Service Co. Suits attacking the commission's action have been filed in circuit court at Clayton by the St. Louis County Transit Co.

ROUGH GOING INDICATED FOR 12 OF PROPOSALS BY EISENHOWER

Part of Program Expected to Be Shelved or Radically Revised When It Comes Up in Congress.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower faces possible defeat on about one-third of the broad legislative program he has outlined to Congress.

Few Senators and Representatives who commented on it would predict that substantially all of it would become law, but they generally seemed to feel that Eisenhower had adopted a smart political approach by suggesting 36 topics for congressional action and mentioning others for later reference. They found something for almost everybody in the State of the Union message.

Senator Hickenlooper (Rep.), Iowa, said in an interview he thought this over-all appeal would help the Republicans retain control of Congress in the November elections, even if Congress ignores or defeats part of the program. But Senator Monroney (Dem.), Oklahoma, remarked in a separate interview he did not "believe a negative record will recommend the Republicans to the voters in November."

Public Reaction.

Presidential press secretary James C. Haggerty meanwhile said popular reaction to the President's message, as measured by telegrams received at the White House through yesterday afternon, was overhelmingly favorable—300 praising it and four criticizing it.

Although much of the Eisenhower program remains to be filled out by subsequent messages, there already are strong indications that 12 or more of his proposals may either be shelved or radically revised by Congress.

Congressional lieutenants fully expect Eisenhower's farm program to be submitted in detail Monday, to be rewritten on the principle of fixed high-level price supports instead of the sliding scale Eisenhower is suggesting.

Meanwhile Chairman Aiken (Rep.), Vermont, of the Senate Agriculture Committee appointed a special subcommittee to investigate the reasons for the difference between farm prices and retail prices of agricultural products. He said there "may have been manipulation."

Labor Act Changes.

The controversy over Taft-Hartley law amendments, which Eisenhower will outline in another message Monday, is likely to be such that enactment of any of them is doubtful.

The Administration faces a strong fight on increasing the debt limit, boosting postal rates and Hawaiian statehood, all old issues before Congress. It probably will have serious trouble getting approval for wire-tapping and witnesses immunity legislation.

Despite approval of the idea, many members of Congress apparently think there is little profit in attempting to write into law a presidential suggestion that those convicted of conspiring in the future to overthrow the Government be stripped of citizenship.

Senator Margaret Chase Smith (Rep.), Maine, said in a statement yesterday the bill she introduced a year ago to outlaw the Communist party is "far more important" than the President's proposal. She said Attorney General Herbert Brownell's failure to report to the judiciary committee on the bill "has held up Senate Action." She urged those "who want to go the whole way" to prod Brownell.

The President's proposals to give voting privileges nationwide to 18-year-olds and to District of Columbia citizens also have aroused mixed reaction in Congress.

Subversive Issue.

The White House, however, said the President's proposals on depriving subversives of citizenship and giving the vote to the young were among the points especially praised in telegrams received.

Eisenhower's move to revise the Atomic Energy Act to give United States allies more information, and possibly to authorize the sharing of materials and know-how for an international pool for peacetime developments, face searching analysis and possible rewriting.

Members of Congress do not yet know enough about proposed Social Security changes, medical research aids and other suggestions for public services to make up their minds. But there is likely to be opposition to his idea for Government reinsurance of private health plans.

Apart from the proposals Congress may simply let die, there is an important field in which it is sure to act, but possibly not always in line with the President's desires. Included are such subjects as taxes, the international trade program and foreign aid.

Implied in much of the comment of Congress was the realization that congressional accom-

MAIN WITNESS IN SHOOTING OF REUTHER ELUDES GUARDS, FLEES

Returns to Canada — Prosecutor Doubts He Can Convict 4 Accused of Attempted Killing Without Him.

DETROIT, Jan. 9 (AP)—Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said today "the key witness to the solution" of the attempted assassination of CIO president Walter Reuther five years ago has escaped a protective police guard and fled to Canada.

The Missing witness was identified by the Detroit News as Don Ritchie, 33 years old, a French Canadian. Ritchie was released from the Essex county jail in Windsor, Ont., Dec. 6 after serving a 30-day term for the theft of a coat.

Detroit authorities questioned Ritchie in jail regarding the Reuther case, Windsor police said.

Reached at his home, O'Brien confirmed the identification of Ritchie. But he said, "If you want to publish the name, that's your responsibility—I don't want to be responsible for putting a bullet in that man's head."

O'Brien said the witness saw the shooting and was one of three "assigned to the job," although he did not fire the shotgun blast that maimed the labor leader's right arm and all but killed him.

It was mainly on Ritchie's statement, O'Brien said, that a warrant was issued earlier this week charging four men with assault to murder and conspiracy to assault with intent to murder Reuther on April 20, 1948. The prosecutor said he had corroborating evidence, but none from the shooting scene.

Two Now in Jail.

Two of the four named are in jail, one is under $25,000 bond and the fourth is sought. The warrant also lists four unidentified "John Does," described as hoodlums.

Without the missing witness, O'Brien doubted whether he could convict any of the four named.

O'Brien said Ritchie had been employed as "a slugger" by one of the four accused and was an ex-convict.

Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard said the witness shook his three policemen-guards at a downtown Detroit hotel around 10:40 a.m. yesterday.

He left the water running in a shower and presumably slipped out through a reception room into which both his living and bedroom opened. His guards were in the living room.

Leonard said the guards "undoubtedly" would be suspended.

O'Brien said Ritchie had come from Canada voluntarily New Year's Eve and had been shifted from hotel to hotel since as a safety measure.

Ritchie's attorney called the prosecutor at 4:40 p.m. to report the witness had fled to Canada. O'Brien asked Ontario police to begin a search for him.

Ritchie professed to have no knowledge of the similar attempted assassination of Reuther's brother, Victor, approximately a year later. Victor lost an ey..

Told Story Voluntarily.

O'Brien said the witness got in contact with him turough an intermediary weeks ago and voluntarily told his story. O'Brien said he did not know what motivated the "confession," but said he had heard "one of the bunch" broke Ritchie's jaw a short time before. O'Brien pointed out also that rewards total $204,000.

Clarence Jacobs, 48-year-old Canadian ex-convict, was named by the witness as the man who fired the shotgun through a window of Reuther's kitchen, O'Brien said. Jacobs was one of those named in the warrant and is fighting extradition from Windsor.

O'Brien said Ritchie told him that he, Jacobs and Peter Lombardo, 51, were picked for the job by Santo (Sam) Perrone, 56-year-old union-busting racketeer. Lombardo is now serving a five-year term in Leavenworth federal prison for possessing counterfeit money.

Perrone is sought, having vanished from his luxurious home shortly before O'Brien cracked the case Wednesday.

Carl Renda, 35-year-old son-in-law of Perrone, was named by Ritchie, O'Brien said, as having paid him $5000 for his participation in the shooting and getaway. Renda was arrested Wednesday and is under $25,000 bond.

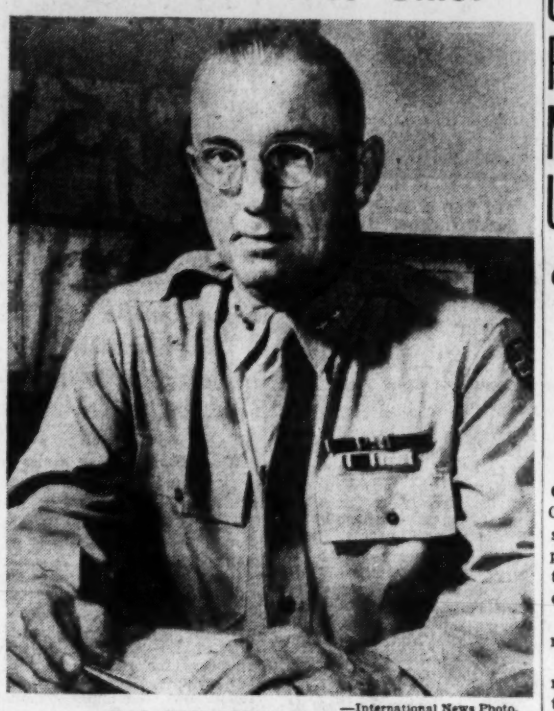

The attempted assassination of Reuther was laid by O'Brien yesterday to an attempt by gangsters to seize control of the big United Auto Workers union, of which Reuther recently had been elected president, and to their desire to keep a multimillion-dollar in-plant gambling ring operating. Reuther fought in-plant gambling and rackets from the start.

Much Ado About Shakespeare.

LONDON, Jan. 9 (INS)—The Russians can't very well claim they invented Shakespeare, but the Moscow radio has hinted that the Soviet Union appreciates him more than his own countrymen. The Moscow broadcast, quoting the magazine Soviet Culture, said more Shakespeare plays are produced in Russia than in Britain.

RED CHINA URGES SPEEDY START ON PEACE PARLEY, OFFERS THREE PROPOSALS

AEC Task Force Chief

MAJ. GEN. PERCY W. CLARKSON

ONE CONDITION IS RUSSIA SIT IN AS NEUTRAL, WHICH U.S. HAS REJECTED

Chou for Resuming Preliminary Talks on That Basis — Insists P.O.W.s Can't Be Released Jan. 22.

PANMUNJOM, Jan. 9 (AP)—Communist China's Premier Chou En-Lai today called for speedy convening of the Korean peace conference and offered three proposals to get the long-delayed talks started.

Chou suggested in a Peiping radio broadcast heard in Tokyo:

1. Resumption of the preliminary negotiations aimed at setting up the conference, using as a starting point Red demands that Russia attend the full-scale talks as a neutral. This proposal was turned down flatly by United States envoy Arthur Dean before he broke off preliminary negotiations last month.

2. That the United Nations General Assembly consider the problem, with Red China and North Korea—both non-U.N. members—"entitled" to send delegates.

3. That the forthcoming Big Four conference in Berlin "lead to a conference of the five great powers . . . to promote the settlement of pressing international problems." The fifth power would be Red China.

Repeats Charges Against U.S.

Much of Chou's long statement repeated Red charges that the United States had wrecked the explanation program and was to blame for the break-off in the preliminary talks.

He insisted that non-repatriated prisoners cannot be released at midnight Jan. 22—as demanded by the U.N. command—but instead must be held until a peace conference decides their fate.

Chou declared:

"We deem that what is called for today is not definitely to terminate the explanations and release the P.O.W.s but to convene speedily the political (peace) conference on Korea and seek a settlement of the question of the disposition of the P.O.W.s."

Chou contended that the Communist command is entitled to 80 days more of explanations to woo war prisoners home because Red persuasion teams talked with the anti-Communists captives only 10 days of the expired 90-day period.

Negotiation Report Denied.

A North Korean broadcast a few hours earlier denied a Washington announcement that the United States was negotiating through intermediaries to resume the preliminary talks at Panmunjom.

Last Tuesday the State Department and Kenneth Young, State Department adviser now in Korea, said intermediaries—presumably India, Sweden or Switzerland — were striving to renew the talks.

North Korea's Pyongyang radio said: "Well-informed sources . . . flatly deny Washington reports that the Americans are unofficially negotiating through an 'intermediary' to renew the preliminary talks."

Pyongyang said the United States announcement was a smoke screen to turn "the attention of the American public to other things than the Korean talks."

Young said in Korea that up to Wednesday he and the Communists were "still feeling around."

Retraction Awaited.

Dean walked out of the Panmunjom talks a month ago after the Reds accused the United States of perfidy and conniving with South Korea in the release of 27,000 anti-Red P.O.W.s last June.

He has repeatedly said, however, that he thought the talks would be resumed and Washington officials have indicated they were hopeful that it could be arranged through some sort of compromise, with each side retracting angry statements.

Dean has said, however, that the Allies could never accept inclusion of Russia in the conference as a neutral nation.

The United States also has opposed any further discussion of the Korea question in the United Nations, at this time. The Assembly is in recess, subject to call by its president, Mme. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India.

(The State Department in Washington, asked for comment on Chou's broadcast, would say only that "the matter of getting the talks started again is under continuing consideration.")

A-BOMBS MIGHT KILL 10,000,000 IN KOREA, DEAN SAYS

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Special Ambassador Arthur H. Dean, United States delegate at the now-suspended preliminary peace talks at Panmunjom, says up to 10,000,000 civilians might be killed if United Nations forces used atomic bombs against forces in North Korea.

However, he said yesterday, he was certain hostilities would not be resumed there "either by us or the Russians or by President (Syngman) Rhee" of South Korea. He said dropping an atomic bomb is not an easy solution to the Korean problem.

Dean, addressing a meeting sponsored by Beekman-Downtown Hospital, also said the Chinese are constructing tremendous bunkers on the Chinese-North Korean boundary and that there are 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 Russian soldiers within 50 miles of the Russian-Chinese border.

Defense Department estimates have put the total under arms in Russia about 4,000,000. When this figure was brought to Dean's attention today, he said, "Well, they have more precise figures than I."

SENATOR IS IRKED BY BAR ON MOVIE OF RED ATROCITIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Senator Potter (Rep.), of Michigan, said today he will ask State and Defense Department officials to explain why they halted release of an Army film of Communist atrocities in Korea, scheduled for television this weekend.

"I know that our service men who survived these Communist brutalities want the full story told to the American people," Potter, who lost both legs in combat during World War II, said in an interview.

The State and Defense Departments gave no detailed reason for their action. Potter said the film apparently was held up because of forthcoming developments affecting United States foreign policy. These include the opening of preliminary talks with Russia Monday on President Eisenhower's atom pool proposal, the scheduled release in Korea Jan 22 of prisoners who chose not to be repatriated, and the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Berlin Jan. 25.

"I'm getting damn tired of our policies being based upon what the Communists might think of us," Potter said.

U.S. PLANS MORE ATOMIC TESTS IN PACIFIC SOON

Speculation Is That Super Hydrogen Bomb May Be Among Weapons Fired.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The United States will carry out another series of secret atomic tests in the Pacific soon, it was announced last night.

The Atomic Energy Commission said men and materials would start moving to the proving grounds in the Marshall islands this month.

The announcement touched off speculation that the United States may be planning to detonate a hydrogen bomb with a blast power mightier than the combined force of all the conventional bombs dropped by United States planes in World War II.

The AEC called it "a further phase of a continuing series of weapons tests."

'All Categories' of Weapons.

The three-paragraph announced characteristically made no mention of specific types to be tested, but a reference to "all categories" of weapons touched off the H-bomb speculation.

It has been estimated that the American Air Force in World War II unloaded the bomb equivalent of slightly more than 2,000,000 tons of TNT.

President Eisenhower told the United Nations General Assembly last month that "hydrogen weapons are in the range of millions of tons of TNT's equivalent."

A super-atomic bomb dropped over the Nevada desert last June was a popgun by comparison. It was belived to contain a power equivalent of 50,000 tons of TNT and its flash could be seen 500 miles away.

This bomb, in turn, was about 2½ times as powerful as the one that all but wiped out the Japanese city of Hiroshima.

There was one other significant sentence in the AEC announcement: "There will be no

Truman Ranks Present Congress With the 80th as a 'Do Nothing'

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today the present Congress ranks with the Republican-controlled Eightieth Congress in the field of "doing nothing."

During his morning constitutional walk, Truman revealed he has a low opinion of the accomplishments so far of the Eighty-third Congress, which has been controlled by Republicans. Its second session began Wednesday.

"The Eightieth Congress tried to cover up their shortcomings with demagoguery and did nothing, just as the present Congress is doing nothing," he said.

Truman emerged from his suite at the Waldorf Astoria Towers at 7 a.m., well bundled up against the 23-degree temperature. Although few pedestrians were on the street, some stopped to ask him for an autograph.

As he autographed the worksheet of taxi driver Morris Herman, the former President observed: "I don't know what they do with these things. Mine is of no value. There's only one autograph of any value in this country—that's Button Gwinnett."

He referred to a signer of the Declaration of Independence who is remembered mostly because his autograph is extremely rare and placed at high value by professional collectors.

Truman said he used to ask page boys in the United States Senate what they did with the autographs of Senators. He said the pages told him that when they got the signatures of four Senators, they traded them in for the autograph of one movie star.

MOSCOW SAYS PRESIDENT TRIED TO SHIFT ATOMIC BURDEN TO RUSSIA

Soviet Radio Also Asserts Reference to Threat of Communism Is Attempt to Justify EDC.

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP) — The Moscow radio declared tonight President Eisenhower's state of the Union message tried to sell the idea that solution of the atomic problem "depended solely on the Soviet Union."

The broadcast also charged Eisenhower's reference to the threat of Communism was an attempt "to justify" American support for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the formation of a European defense community.

"The message speaks of United States intention to continue military aid to foreign countries . . . and at the same time to cut economic aid," the radio said.

Aside from giving prominence to the President's remarks on atomic energy problems, the Soviet broadcast was mostly limited to straight excerpts from the speech, which was warmly received throughout most of the free world.

India Press Criticizes Eisenhower's Message.

NEW DELHI, Jan. 9 (UP)— India's press today criticized President Eisenhower's State of the Union message as repetitious at best and harmful to the unity of the free world at worst.

The pro-Government Hindustan Times, edited by Devadas Gandhi, son of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi, said the address was a "reiteration of policies and measures already known."

The pro-Government Indian Express captioned its editorial "Faith in Force."

The Express said the President's "firmness may be mistaken by others as a threat. . . . Such a reading by foreign powers is bound to have unfortunate results and Eisenhower's message may be construed virtually as an ultimatum.

"The earlier suggestion put forward by the President of an atom bank now loses much of its significance."

BRITON, HEIRESS ARRIVE IN LONDON ON HONEYMOON

LONDON, Jan. 9 (UP)—Isabela and Jimmy Goldsmith arrived in London today on their honeymoon.

He yawned and she smiled as they climbed from the overnight train which brought them to London from Edinburgh, Scotland.

Reporters and well-wishers met the train at King's Cross station, hoping to hear the newlyweds tell more about their elopement against the will of Isabel's father, Antenor Patino, tin magnate.

The couple was met by London friends. Police kept reporters back.

Itabela, an 18-year-old beauty whose parents opposed the marriage on the ground that she was too young, wore a leopard skin coat but no hat. Her husband, 20-year-old son of an English hotel magnate, wore a dark gray suit and carried a raincoat.

PRESIDENT RULES OUT ANY UMT BILL REQUEST

reservists into two broad groups as follows:

1. An "immediately callable reserve" of well-trained men who could be mustered into service directly by the armed forces on authorization by the President or Congress.

2. A "selectively callable reserve" whose members would be subject to call or defermen individually on the basis of occupation, special skills, age, marital and parental status, equity, and other factors. The ODM committee recommended that the Selective Service system make these decisions.

At present reservists are divided, largely on the basis of previous service into one group which could be called if the President declared an emergency and another callable in case of war or emergency declared by Congress.

Forces for Quick Action.

One important result of the reorganization might be a considerable increase in the forces ready for quick action in a full mobilization.

Another result might be the restoration to civilians — the local draft boards—the control over many reservists now subject to direct military call.

Flemming recommended, and Eisenhower agreed, that the National Security Council should decide the "size and composition of military reserve forces needed in the light of current and future national security requirements."

Flemming was instructed by Eisenhower to submit a report by April 1 on recommendations the Defense Department should make to the council. Informed officials said it was highly unlikely that final decisions could be made and legislation drafted before the end of this session of Congress.

Boards Differ.

The ODM committee differed in its recommendations from those of the National Security Training Commission headed by Julius Ochs Adler, vice president and general manager of the New York Times and president and publisher of the Chattanooga Times.

The Adler commission reported on Dec. 14 that a token training of 100,000 men annually should start by next Jan. 1. It said the program could be operated simultaneously with the draft, by employing a lottery system to determine whether an 18-year-old should be inducted into the armed forces or sent into U.M.T.

Government officials said the new White House decision does not necessarily rule out the ultimate adoption of the Adler commission's proposals, if the Defense Department's estimate of needed reserves permits the operation of both the draft and the U.M.T.

SEIZED CUBAN HAS 3 BOMBS, LEAFLETS URGING REVOLT

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Jan. 9 (UP) — A man with a suitcase full of bombs was arrested yesterday aboard a bus in this east Cuban city, scene of an abortive revolt last July.

Miguel Rodriguez Limonta had three bombs and several leaflets "inciting the people to rebellion" in the small suitcase he was carrying at the time of the arrest, military intelligence agents announced.

Meanwhile, in Havana, Jose Valle Diaz was sentenced to prison for two years for illegal possession of arms. Valle was one of six persons arrested in November in connection with the discovery of a cache of arms and ammunition in a chemical laboratory. The other five have been released.

Some Details of F3H Demon Disclosed, Indicating It Is in 650-M.P.H. Class.

The first of a new series of carrier-based jet fighter planes, the F3H Demon, has been delivered to the Navy by McDonnell Aircraft Corp., it was announced last night. The first one delivered was designated an F3H-IN, an all-weather version.

At the same time some details of the plane, previously restricted for reasons of military security, were released. Included was the announcement that the plane has completed carrier qualification trails aboard the carrier Coral Sea.

The plane is slightly more than 59 feet long and has a wingspan of 35 feet, 4 inches. It is more than 13 feet high, with wings that can be folded to conserve storage space aboard ship.

At present it is powered by one Westinghouse J-40 jet engine. However, an Allison J-71 jet engine is to be substituted when available. An afterburner is provided for added thrust for brief periods.

Although no announcement has been made of the speed or altitude of which the F3H is capable, thin, sharply-swept wing and tail surfaces and other data which have been released indicate it is in the 650-miles-an-hour class, with an operating altitude of 40,000 feet or more.

Armament consists of an undisclosed number of rapid firing 20-millimeter cannon. In addition several combinations of external armament can be carried, including a large number of rockets. All-weather operations are made possible by improved types of radar and computing and fire control equipment.

The Demon carries sufficient fuel internally for adequate carrier-based fighter range and this can be extended with external tanks. Internal fuel tanks are of the self-sealing type.

The pressurized cockpit is well forward for good visibility forward and downward. An ejection seat is provided for use in emergency. The plane has a tricycle landing gear and is equipped with catapult launching and carrier-type landing arresting equipment.

Slats in the leading edge of the wing and slotted flaps in the trailing edge materially decrease landing and takeoff speeds and provide better control at relatively low speeds.

The experimental version of the F3H Demon made its first test flight from the McDonnell factory at Lambert-St. Louis Field on Aug. 7, 1951. It is the successor to the company's F2H Banshee, of which more than 800 were delivered to the Navy before orders were completed recently.

TAYLOR WARNS REDS NOT TO BAR P.O.W. RELEASE

Any Interference Will 'Likely Start War Again,' 8th Army Commander Says.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

SEOUL, Jan. 9 (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army commander, said today that if the Communists attempt to halt the release of anti-Red war prisoners Jan. 23 it would "most likely start the Korean war over again."

The Reds have not threatened force, but Gen. Taylor warned in a press conference the Eighth Army "will be alerted for any contingency."

He said his troops are fully prepared for "orderly or emergency situations" that may arise from the release of 22,500 anti-Red North Korean and Chinese P.O.W.s in compounds in the neutral zone near Panmunjom. The prisoners are expected to leave their compounds after 12:01 a.m., Jan. 23, with or without approval of the Neutral Nations Repatriations Commission.

U.N. Command's Position.

The United Nations Command insists that the prisoners go free as civilians on that date. The Communists maintain the P.O.W.s should be held until a Korean peace conference decides on their disposition.

A reporter asked the Eighth Army briefing officer whether the prisoners are "coming through the barbed wire or out of the gate" when the zero hour comes.

"We don't know," he answered.

The N.N.R.C. has not been decided yet what to do about the prisoners. But Indian custodial troops, it is believed, would make no attempt to stop the prisoners from fleeing, taking the view that if they opened fire, terrible casualties would result.

Gen. Taylor said the Indian command will be asked to "fully inform" the prisoners of the Eighth Army's plans for handling them.

These plans include shipping the 15,000 Chinese captives to the Nationalist Chinese island of Formosa from Inchon port near Seoul.

The 7500 North Koreans will be loaded on trains at the edge of the demilitarized zone and taken to Army induction centers far to the south.

ROK Officials to Be on Hand.

The briefing officer said he understood that South Korean Government officials "will be at the induction center cities to talk to men who do not desire to join the ROK army."

Prisoners who do not want to go to South Korea and Formosa presumably will stay in the compounds, he said.

Gen. Taylor said the evacuation will be under the direction of Maj. Gen. Blackshear Bryan, United States First Corps commander. He said he and U.N. commander Gen. John E. Hull will inspect preparations Jan. 22, then return at daylight Jan. 23, but do not intend to be there during the move south.

South Korea's foreign minister Pyun Yung Tai, meanwhile, rebuffed a U.N. command warning and refused to retract threats his government might use armed force against Indian troops guarding anti-Communist prisoners. His threats grew out of a head count of 5000 prisoners by the N.N.R.C. which resulted in 135 returning to Communism.

Gen. Taylor has said the Eighth Army would guard the Indian troops.

Four South Koreans in the Communist P.O.W. camp told Indian guards last night they wanted to be sent to Red Poland or Czechoslovakia, Indian officers disclosed today.

It was the first time any of the unrepatriated war prisoners, who include 21 Americans, rejected Red China or North Korea in favor of a Russian satellite.

Indian guards put the four Koreans in a separate compound, away from the mud hut camp where the other pro-Communist prisoners are held.

Poland and Czechoslovakia are members of the N.N.R.C.

INDOCHINA REDS IN PINCER ATTACK ON KEY LAOS BASE

Fierce Battle Raging—Losses High on Both Sides in Drive Against Seno.

HANOI, Indochina, Jan. 9 (UP) —The Vietminh Communist rebels have opened a pincer attack against a key French base in Laos and a savage fight is raging, the French high command announced tonight.

Losses on both sides in the battle, now in progress for 48 hours, are heavy, the high command said.

The rebels struck at the Seno air base which protects the central Laos city of Savannakhet, blocking the pathway to rich southern Indochina.

Southward Move.

One Red force struck southward against Seno. A second attacked from the east, striking first at Tchepone, 60 miles east of Seno. The heaviest fighting at present is taking place in the vicinity of Donghene, 25 miles northeast of Seno.

The high command admitted French losses have been "important" and said the rebel losses were "heavy."

Planes in the area were thrown into an attack against the rebels. To the north, French planes carried out what the high command called one of the biggest air raids of the Indochina war.

A spokesman said French forces marshaled every type of aircraft available and dumped tons of explosives on Communist-led Vietminh rebels surrounding Dien Bien Phu, a French bastion in Viet Nam.

American-built Hell Divers from the aircraft carrier Arromanches, four-engined Navy bombers, Privateers, B-26s and Grumman Bearcats took part in the raid yesterday, the spokesman said.

The raid was carried out as the rebels moved within artillery range of the Dien Bien Phu fortress which French union paratroopers seized two months ago. Results of the air attack were not disclosed immediately.

Reinforcements Sent.

American-made "flying boxcars" poured reinforcements and equipment into Dien Bien Phu in preparation for an expected Communist attack.

French union sources believe Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap has imported artillery specialists trained in Red China and heavy Chinese artillery in attempt to pin down loyalist defenders.

Giap, it was believed, has two major objectives in planning an artillery attack on Dien Bien Phu:

1. It would weaken France's position at the forthcoming Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Berlin and put pressure on it to start truce talks on Communist terms.

2. By shelling the Dien Bien Phu airfield, Giap could hit at the French Union forces air power while his troops wheel against Luang Prabang, ancient capital of Laos, 110 miles to the south.

Giap was believed to have pulled elements of two Red divisions—the 312th and 308th—out of position north of Hanoi and added them to his build-up near Dien Bien Phu.

The Red general has had to impress coolies into labor battalions to bring heavy mortars and recoilless guns over twisting jungle trails, sources said.

U.S. Envoy Says Thais Will Resist Vietminh Invasion.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—William J. Donovan, United States Ambassador to Thailand, said yesterday before he left Idlewild airport bound for Bangkok that the Thais would resist any Vietminh invasion. He described them as "good, strong boys who are in a position to fight."

He said the Thais were strongly anti-Communist. He described the Vietminh thrust to the Thailand border as "a diversion set-up for the ultimate purpose of trying for the Tonkin delta," which is the important rice-growing area.

Donovan was returning to Thailand after three weeks of consultations with the State Department.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK ISSUES CALL FOR NEW ELECTIONS

TAIPEH, Formosa, Jan. 9 (AP) —President Chiang Kai-shek today issued a mandate summoning the 3045-man National Assembly to meet here Feb. 19 to elect a new president and vice president of Nationalist China.

The election is expected to take place in the middle of March after administrative matters are settled.

Chiang's re-election to a six-year term is a virtual certainty. Premier Chen Chung is the leading candidate for the vice presidency.

WITHDRAWAL OF U.S. TROOPS OPPOSED BY ROK ASSEMBLY

SEOUL, Jan. 9 (UP)—The defense committee of the South Korean national assembly adopted today a draft resolution to declare "unconditional opposition" to the impending withdrawal of United States ground forces from Korea.

The action followed President Eisenhower's recent announcement of plans to withdraw two American divisions from Korea as the first step in the progressive reduction of United States troops in Korea.

NATO Plans Start on Pipeline Linking 160 Airfields in Europe

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Map locates routes of proposed pipelines to carry fuel for NATO planes. Line (1) from Donges to Metz is designed for United States-French use; line (2) from Marseille would follow Rhone valley to Dijon area. Terminus for line (3) starting at Le Havre has not been determined.

Infrastructure Program of $224,000,000 Reported With U.S. Paying 38 Per Cent.

By JOHN RODERICK

PARIS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Reliable informants said today that NATO, within sight of its goal of 160 jet airfields, will concentrate this year on laying a communications network to link the bases and a web of pipelines to supply them with fuel.

The sources said the December ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization voted approximately $224,000,000 for its 1954 infrastructure program—the building of permanent installations needed to support NATO armed forces. The bulk of the sum will be used for the communications and fuel supply systems.

The airfields are almost all completed, and 120 are in operation.

The United States will chip in about 38 per cent of the total amount spent on NATO installations, according to a United States Defense Department report to Congress last May.

Two 10-Inch Fuel Lines.

Details of the building program for 1954 have not yet been published but is is authoritatively reported to include two big 10-inch fuel lines in France. One would start at the Mediterranean port of Marseille and follow the Rhone River valley about 350 miles north to the Dijon area, where it would serve a group of NATO airfields. The other would start at the Atlantic coast port of Le Havre. Its terminus has not been revealed.

NATO said last September that it was starting then to build 1875 miles of pipeline in nine western Allied countries. The system would be for the use of all 14 NATO members.

This network would be linked to the 400-mile line the United States plans to build across France to West Germany. This line, for the sole use of the United States and France, will start at Donges, on the French west coast, near St. Nazaire, and span the country to Metz, close to the German border.

Saving on Transportation.

The North Atlantic nations decided on the pipeline project in hopes of saving millions of dollars that otherwise would have to be spent in transporting oil, gasoline and lubricants by rail and road. Underground lines offer a relatively poor target to enemy bombers.

The lines will not serve individual airfields. Instead, they will feed big storage areas close to clusters of airfields. From these points the fuel will be moved by truck.

The new NATO allocation brings the total voted for infrastructure purposes to $1,142,000,000 through 1954. Through 1956, it is $1,918,000,000.

Much of the money in past allocations remains unspent since many projects are yet to be completed.

LUGWORM DIGGERS STRIKE, SEEK 50 PER CENT PAY HIKE

LOWESTOFT, England, Jan. 9 (AP)—The lugworm lifters of Lowestoft put down their spades and went on strike today.

Lugworms are dug for anglers' bait on Lowestoft's sandy beaches. The diggers, who have been paid 2 shillings (28 cents) a hundred for the worms, want to boost the price to 3 shillings. Local bait dealers objected, saying the increase would turn fishing around these parts into a luxury sport.

80-MILE PIPELINE FOR AIR BASE THAT NEVER WAS BUILT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)— One of the Senators who checked on the United States air base building program in North Africa said today they found an 80-mile fuel pipeline leading nowhere and $2,000,000 worth of surplus lumber baking in the sun.

This was reported by Senator Case (Rep.) of South Dakota, chairman of the military construction subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

"Apparently they put down a pipeline before they got clearance for an air base that later was not built," Case said.

Case said he hopes this pipeline and millions of dollars worth of other American-purchased surplus materials in North Africa can be salvaged for use in construction of new United States bases in Spain. Case's subcommittee yesterday approved release of $50,000,000 to permit an immediate start on the Spanish projects.

The subcommittee also approved a Defense Department decision to let the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks supervise the job, instead of the Army Corps of Engineers, which was criticized in Congress for its handling of the North Africa air base program.

The Senate group also approved spending another $33,653,000 on United States military bases in England.

FINN SCHOOLGIRL MARRIES PRINCE OF AFRICAN TRIBE

LONDON, Jan. 9 (UP)—A 17-year-old blonde schoolgirl from Finland became a princess of a 300,000-member African tribe today by marrying its prince.

Miss Sinitta Toivonen had the "blessing" of her Helsinki shopkeeper father for her wedding to Crown Prince Ankrah of the Gold Coast. They met when the prince visited Finland as a tourist last summer.

When he takes his bride back to his tribal state in a few months she will become mistress of a modern, 46-room palace. The prince's father is Chief Nikpakpo Oti, head of the Otohublum tribal state on the West African seacoast.

The marriage was performed at the Paddington registry office.

PARLEY SITE NOT YET CHOSEN, NEW MEETING MONDAY

Western Commanders Go to Russian Zone for Talk but Fail to Reach Agreement.

BERLIN, Jan. 9 (UP)—United States, British, French and Russian representatives failed again today to reach agreement on a site in Berlin for the Big Four foreign ministers' conference and agreed to meet again Monday.

The three Western commandants and the Soviet Control Commission head met for eight hours at Russian headquarters. As in their first meeting Thursday, they failed to agree.

The Allied delegates want the meeting held in the free atmosphere of West Berlin, in the former Control Authority building. The Communists want it held in their sector in East Berlin.

Despite the continued disagreement, a Western spokesman said, the atmosphere still was friendly.

By the Associated Press.

Gates to the big barbed wire compound in Karlshorst were swung high and manned by natily uniformed Red Army honor guard troops as the American, British and French commanders and their deputies arrived. Each Allied vehicle drew a sharp present-arms rifle salute from the fur-capped sentries.

As the second meeting opened today, Soviet Commandant Sergei Dengin greeted the western commandants cordially in the conference room of his headquarters.

Meanwhile, the West German Socialists withdrew a charge that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was "sabotaging" the forthcoming conference.

In a letter to the Chancellor, Socialist opposition leader Erich Ollenhauer expressed regret for the choice of words in a commentary put out by his party news service on Wednesday.

But, Ollenhauer went on, this did not diminish their disagreement on procedure. He said the Socialists still thought that to press on with plans for the European army just prior to the meeting would damage prespects for a successful conference leading to German unity.

$5,500,000 Settlement Terms Accepted by Bobo Rockefeller

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)— Barbara Sears (Bobo) Rockefeller has accepted a $5,500,000 settlement as a prelude to ending her marriage with Winthrop Rockefeller.

After legal bickering yesteray, Mrs. Rockefeller announced she accepted settlement terms, and the oil millionaire's counsel acknowledged receipt of her agreement.

Attorneys for the husband said the settlement provides — for Mrs. Rockefeller and her son, Winthrop Paul, five years old— the multi-million-dollar sum "plus $70,000 of annual income or an alternative additional trust of $500,000."

Presumably the acceptance paves the way for a divorce. Rockefeller has established residence in Arkansas and could get a divorce there.

(A United Press dispatch from New York said Rockefeller would file immediately for a divorce in Arkansas, where separation is grounds for divorce.

Mrs. Rockefeller, 37, an immigrant coal miner's daughter, could go to Reno or some similar place. Divorce in New York is granted only on grounds of adultery, and no such suggestion has been raised in the Rockefeller case.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

BARBARA ROCKEFELLER

The couple was married on Valentine's day in 1948. Two years later they became estranged, and have been wrangling over finances ever since. The marriage to Rockefeller, 42, was Bobo's second. It was his first.

STATE DEMOCRAT MEETING OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR FALL ELECTION

Near-Record Gathering to Hear Symington Tonight — Some Regard Him as Presidential Prospect.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 9—A near-record gathering of Missouri Democrats was on hand here today for the thirty-first annual Jackson day rally, opening the party's campaign activities for what many leaders regard as the most important "off-year" election in many years.

Climax of the meeting, which shows signs of taking on national importance, will be the Jackson day banquet tonight, at which United States Senator Stuart Symington of St. Louis county will be the principal speaker.

In his speech, Symington was expected to fire the Democrats' opening campaign blast against the year-old Republican administration in Washington, giving an indication of some of the major issues his party will raise in the 1954 elections in an effort to win control of the 1955 Congress from the Republicans.

Presidential Prospect?

There was considerable speculation among the early arrivals here on whether Missouri's junior Senator is being seriously groomed by a bloc of Democratic Senators as a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956.

Many Missouri leaders regard Symington as a potential presidential candidate, despite his frequent statements that he has no such ambitions and "only wants to be a good Senator from Missouri."

Some party followers were drawing a parallel between Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 nominee, and Symington, by recalling that in 1950 Stevenson, then Governor of Illinois, was the principal speaker at the Missouri Jackson day festivities here and then was nominated for President two years later. Those who attach some importance to such things pointed out the same timing applies to Symington.

Symington, accompanied by Mrs. Symington, was expected to arrive here this afternoon by plane from St. Louis. Traveling with him is Sidney Salomon Jr., St. Louis insurance executive who recently was appointed financial director of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee.

Also in the party will be James H. Meredith of Kirkwood, Symington's campaign manager in the 1952 election, and John J. Dwyer, chairman of the St. Louis Democratic City Committee.

Mark R. Holloran of St. Louis the hard-working Democratic national committeeman for Missouri, and Sylvester Lipic, a member of the St. Louis county election board, arrived last night, along with other party members from the St. Louis area.

Democrats in House.

Missouri's 11 seats in the national House of Representatives will be the most important prizes at stake in the state election next November. The Democrats hold seven of these seats, which they won in 1952 while President Eisenhower was carrying the state.

The Democrats are expressing considerable confidence in their ability to unseat at least two of the incumbent Republican Congressmen. They are Representatives Jeffrey P. Hillelson of Independence and William C. Cole of St. Joseph.

And the Democrats have high hopes of defeating veteran Republican Representative Dewey Short, who represents the Seventh District in this southwest section of the state, and also Representative Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves.

Short's district long has been regarded as Missouri's major Republican stronghold, but the Democrats feel that it may be possible to upset the 11-term incumbent because of the Republican administration's "bungling" of drouth relief here this year.

Hard Man to Beat.

The Democrats recognize that the colorful Short will be hard to beat, but they contend that farmers in many of the Republican counties were angered by the "failure" of the Administration to provide prompt and effective drouth aid. They also report considerable unrest because the Table Rock dam project on the White river has been delayed.

Several possible candidates for the Democratic nomination in this district are being mentioned. They include Stanley Roush, a Springfield city councilman, and Leo Orchard, a Springfield real estate dealer, who has been active in Democratic affairs for some time.

There is also some talk that Mayor H. Chris Oltman of Joplin might make the race as a Democrat. Oltman's political affiliation is under question, however. He was elected mayor on a nonpartisan ticket, reportedly with considerable Democratic assistance.

Two years ago he showed up at a Republican Lincoln day banquet in St. Louis and announced he was considering the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. He did not enter that contest, however.

HODCARRIERS' UNION INDORSES BOND ISSUE

Spokesman Says Construction Would Aid County as Well as Building Trade.

The proposed $44,732,500 St. Louis county bond issue was indorsed by the executive board of Local 110, AFL Hodcarriers' Building and Common Laborers' Union last night as calling for a construction program which will mean "many jobs for many men."

At least 50 of the union's 1500 members were pledged by the board to work for the bonds at the special election Feb. 9, Joseph M. McCarthy, union president, and George W. Davis, business agent, said.

"Our union is interested in the success of the bond issue program, not only because a big majority of our members are residents of the county and are therefore interested in the progress of the county, but also because a construction program like the bond issue will mean many jobs for many men," a union statement said.

"When men are at work they are earning pay and when they get their pay there is progress. Public improvements are as necessary to community progress as private construction.

"Private values follow public values, so every home-owner in St. Louis county is directly concerned with a program that will spend almost $90,000,000 on public works in the next few years."

Union members heard an explanation of the bond proposal by William J. Becker, attorney and co-chairman of the bond committee speakers' bureau, and viewed a committee film, "The Big Decision."

Ralph L. Devereaux, chairman of the County Democratic Central Committee, announced the committee had indorsed the proposed Metropolitan Sewer District, a charter for which also will be submitted to voters at the special election. The committee already is on record in favor of the bond proposal.

WILLIAM E. MORRISON GETS 2½ YEARS FOR BOGUS CHECKS

William Emmett Morrison was sentenced to two and a half years in the Missouri State Penitentiary yetserday by Circuit Judge John K. Regan when he pleaded guilty to three charges of passing worthless checks.

Morrison was arrested last Oct. 22. Police said he admitted passing 15 bogus checks for which he obtained $500 in cash and merchandise from stores here.

In December 1948 Morrison was arrested on three check charges but the then Circuit Attorney James W. Griffin stopped prosecution on the warrants after Patrolman Emmett E. Morrison, the defendant's father had pleaded for his son. In February, 1950, Morrison was sentenced to one year in the workhouse after he pleaded guilty of stealing $101 from a safe. Circuit Judge William K. Koerner then placed him on parole for two years.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR CHARLES BIEDERMAN

Funeral services for Charles Biederman, vice president and treasurer of the Biederman Furniture Co., will be tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Rindskopf undertaking establishment, 5212 Delmar boulevard, with burial in Mount Sinai cemetery.

Mr. Biederman, 56 years old, died of a heart ailment yesterday at his home, 6940 Delmar boulevard, University City. He had been employed by tht company for 39 years. It was founded in 1886 by his father, the late Emanuel Biederman.

Surviving are two brothers, David and William Biederman, and two sisters, Mrs. Karol Korngold and Mrs. Herman Snyder. Mr. Biederman was unmarried.

MISSING WEBSTER GROVES MAN REPORTED IN HOUSTON

J. Kenneth Gerdel, a real estate broker, 93 Webster Woods, Webster Groves, who was reported missing last Nov. 18, has been found at Houston, Tex., his brother-in-law, Edward Gross of the Webster Woods address, reported today.

Gross told the Post-Dispatch that Gerdel, who disappeared after leaving his office at 17 North Gore avenue, Webster Groves, to inspect a factory site in St. Charles, had been seen at Houston by a friend of the family.

Gerdel apparently had suffered a nervous breakdown, Gross said. Mrs. Gerdel has gone to Houston to join her husband, Gross said.

ASKS SPOT ZONING PLEAS BE MADE TO PLAN BOARD

Dubinsky Suggests Procedure to Aldermen So Commission Can Study Each Case.

A procedure which would permit the City Plan Commission to analyze proposed changes in zoning laws before consideration by the Board of Aldermen was recommended in a talk before the aldermen yesterday by Saul A. Dubinsky, chairman of the commission.

Calling attention to 60 piecemeal amendments to the zoning map since passage of the zoning ordinance in 1950, Dubinsky said the overwhelming majority "constituted spot zoning without regard to health, welfare, safety or prosperity of the community."

'Passed for Personal Gain.'

"They were enacted to permit personal gain to an individual property owner," he asserted, "without regard as to what injustices might be done to adjacent properties or without regard to the effect on the neighborhood as a whole."

Dubinsky said he specifically suggested that the city adopt a procedure by which anyone seeking a zoning change would file a petition with the City Plan Commission, which would make a complete study of the proposal.

The commission's recommendations would be transmitted to the petitioner and the aldermen within a specified period, he said. In event of an adverse recommendation the petitioner could still request introduction of the zoning bill and the board could follow the same procedure presently employed.

This procedure, Dubinsky said, would permit the commission to learn of the petitioner's needs and desires; it would provide a thorough, competent study on an impartial basis thereby permitting the sponsoring alderman to render a comprehensive service to his constituent, and it would give the alderman a thorough understanding of the conditions and implications attached to a potential zoning bill.

Same Objective.

The Plan Commission and the Board of Aldermen have the same objective, Dubinsky said, and that is to provide for all of our citizens a better city in which to live and work. He said continual spot zoning amendments were undesirable and had been held illegal by supreme courts in many states, including Missouri.

Continuation of the practice will shatter the "confidence and trust of the people of St. Louis in our zoning laws," he said. He cited an instance of a group of persons in a west-end neighborhood who recently banded together to adopt deed restrictions in the belief zoning laws were not being observed.

"As a realtor I can tell you spot zoning does depreciate adjoining property values, does demoralize the surrounding neighborhood and will have an adverse effect upon the economic stability of our community," he said.

He added that the commission's planning staff is competent and well trained but is not sufficient in size, pointing out that the $72,000 sum allocated to it represents an expenditure of 9 cents per resident. St. Louis county, Kansas City and Seattle, Wash., spend between 21 and 27 cents per person for this purpose, he said.

TRANSIT AUTHORITY BOARD PLANS SIX PUBLIC MEETINGS

A series of six public meetings will be held in the city and county to inform voters of the purposes and plans of the proposed metropolitan transit authority, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the board of freeholders for the transit authority.

The meetings are scheduled to be held Jan. 26, 27 and 28 and Feb. 2, 3, and 4. Places at which the hearings will be held have not been selected. The board will hold a special session Feb. 8 to consider objections and recommendations suggested at the public meetings. The plan will be submitted to voters sometime in May.

The board yesterday completed its outline of the plan by the adoption of amendments defining its corporate and legal powers.

YOUTH GETS A JOB AT LAST; KILLED ON FIRST DAY ON IT

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9 (UP)—Theater manager Richard S. Raesly liked the looks of the youth he heard in a restaurant complaining that he couldn't find a job.

"I could use a fellow like you," he told 19-year-old Bernard Kush. "Come around in the morning."

Kush was helping Raesly and his son, Richard Jr., erect some new equipment yesterday. A cable supporting a heavy loudspeaker snapped and knocked him from a scaffold to a platform 10 feet below. Kush was killed instantly.

106-Year-Old Downtown Building Coming Down for Parking Lot

One of downtown St. Louis's oldest landmarks, a 106-year-old four-story building housing Speck's Confectionery and Schumacker's Restaurant at 414-16 Market street, will be razed to make way for a parking lot, it was announced today.

Sale of the brick structure by Mrs. Anita M. Pichler, operator of Schumacker's, to Boatmen's Bank is expected to be consummated later this month. The bank is handling the purchase for the Wayco Realty & Investment Co., 611 Olive street.

Protests against tearing down the historic building, which was erected by Taylor Blow, the wholesale druggist who freed the famous slave, Dred Scott, have been made by John A. Bryan, preservation officer for the American Institute of Architects, and by the St. Louis Restaurant Association.

"St. Louis won't have any historic buildings left if property owners keep destroying them for parking lots," said Bryan, pointing to the fact that the old National Hotel and American Theater and Hotel buildings have been razed in recent years in the same neighborhood.

Mrs. Pichler said she would close Schumacker's at the end of the month and begin operation of a new cafeteria and restaurant at 3633 South Grand boulevard. She said business had declined since razing of the American Theater last year.

FARRIS PREDICTS U.S. WILL EXPAND ANTI-SLUM WORK

Redevelopment Director Says City Is in Good Position for Face-Lifting Job.

Congress will expand the federal slum clearance and urban redevelopment program in the current session, Charles L. Farris, former deputy director of this program, confidently predicted yesterday in a talk before the Civitan Club at Hotel Statler.

Farris gave up his post in Washington last month to become executive director of the St. Louis Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority, the municipal agency which plans rehabilitation of decaying areas.

"The Eisenhower Administration on Jan. 25 will introduce a bill to expand the slum clearance program," he said. "This will call for elaborate studies of 'urban renewal' areas looking toward use of conservation and rehabilitation in addition to the surgeon's knife of slum clearance."

Farris emphasized that rehabilitation of a neighborhood requires improvement of the surrounding area through property conservation measures if the redeveloped neighborhood is to ward off encroachment of blight after 25 years.

"St. Louis is in a fortunate position with regard to urban redevelopment," he added, pointing out that a two-year survey of housing conditions in the city has just been completed, and passage of the $1,500,000 bond issue for a park in the plaza area created a wave of civic interest in the campaign to check decay.

MAPLEWOOD AIR RAID SIREN GETS ITS FIRST TRYOUT

The initial test of Maplewood's new air raid siren, installed on the roof of the county municipality's City Hall, was conducted last night and was "generally successful," Mayor Sterling Davidson Jr. announced.

He said the alert warning, a three-minute continuous wail at 7 p.m., and the all-clear signal, three one-minute blasts at intervals of a minute, which was sounded four minutes after the warning, were reported heard as far away as University City, two and a half miles distant.

HOMICIDE VERDICT RETURNED IN DEATH OF JOHN LUGAR

A verdict of homicide at the hands of persons unknown was returned in the death of John (Buddy) Lugar, former Cuckoo gangster, at a coroner's inquest at Madison City Hall last night.

Powder marks indicated the two bullets that entered Lugar's head were fired from a short distance, the coroner's report said. Lugar, who lived at the Roosevelt Hotel here, was shot to death New Year's day by one of two men who alighted from an automobile with him on a lonely road near Madison.

Authorities investigating the murder said today that a romantic affair may have led to Lugar's death. He had many woman friends, most of whom also associated with other underworld characters, investigators were informed.

CHILDREN'S BOARD MEMBER

Robert H. Schoenberg, an investment broker, was appointed yesterday by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker as a member of the Board of Children's Guardians.

He lives at 37 Westmoreland place, and fills a vacancy on the board created by the resignation of Albert G. Phaneuf.

Exhibit at Home Show Points Out City's Need for Earnings Tax

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

127 Displays of 1000 Products on View at Auditorium — AEC Demonstration.

St. Louis's financial plight if the earnings tax expires April 1 is dramatized in a special city exhibit at the Home Show at Kiel Auditorium, which opened yesterday and will continue through next Saturday.

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker visited the exhibit last night and pointed out its graphic illustrations of the curtailments in services that will result if the enabling act is not extended by the Legislature. The tax produces about $8,000,000 a year.

An electric traffic signal bears a legend explaining that the cost of such equipment has doubled since 1938. A lamp standard is labeled with the 1938 cost of $52 and the present cost of $173. Double to quadruple cost rises in the 15-year period are shown in hospital meals, street repair materials, fire engines and playground facilities.

The show, nineteenth of its kind, has 127 commercial exhibits of about 1000 products in the Exposition Hall. Products shown range from building materials to vegetable dicers.

A large portion of the north end of the hall is taken up by the traveling American Museum of Atomic Energy, sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission and a chemical manufacturer. Students in laboratory coats, recruited from colleges and high schools, explain its extensive series of demonstration panels and instruments. Anyone who wishes to do so may touch the top of a 250,000-volt electrostatic generator, and his hair will stand on end.

In another series of panels, comic strip characters headed by Dagwood and Mandrake are conducted through the mysteries of atomic explosion and utilization of atomic energy.

The St. Louis Civil Defense Office has set up a display on disaster-area procedures, and the Air Force shows a series of models of historic aircraft. An attraction for children is the Potvin collection of animated wood carvings.

The public will be able to view the second colorcast of the "introduction year" of color television today at 7:30 p.m. at the show, on a color receiver installed by a local distributor.

The program is the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour, carried by Post-Dispatch Station KSD-TV on the National Broadcasting Co. network.

Show hours are 2 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. daily. Admission is 50 cents for adults, 10 cents for children.

MERCURY DROPS 30 DEGREES IN SIX HOURS HERE

Temperatures in St. Louis dropped 30 degrees in six hours today as cold air from the northern Plains moved into the Midwest. The mercury fell from 61 at 3 a.m. to 31 at 9 a.m.

Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said cold weather will continue through tomorrow. A low tomorrow morning of between 10 and 15 degrees and an afternoon high in the middle 20s were forecast. Skies will be partly cloudy.

Yesterday's high here of 65 at 3:30 p.m. was four degrees under the record of 69, established in 1885. Lowest in the nation this morning was 17 below zero at Devil's Lake, N.D., the Weather Bureau reported.

MAN KILLED IN FALL FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Note Found in Sixth-Floor Room of East St. Louisan Is Addressed to Son.

George L. Christmann, 546 North Twenty-second street, East St. Louis, was killed late yesterday in a fall from a sixth-floor window of the Broadview Hotel in East St. Louis to a roof projecting from the second floor. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital.

Christmann, a brewery worker, registered at the hotel Wednesday, paying for two days' rent in advance, police said. They reported that a note found in his room said: "I just can't stand this pain anymore." It was addressed to his 12-year-old son, George Jr.

A relative who identified the body said Christmann, 43, had been under a physician's care for a nervous condition. Physicians said Christmann's wrists had been cut, apparently with a razor blade.

STUDENT NURSE SHOT, KILLED IN HOME BY ANOTHER NURSE

Miss Henrietta Keeps, a student nurse at Homer G. Phillips Hospital, was shot and killed yesterday at her home, 4307A North Market street.

Police said the shot was fired by Miss Viola Eason, 19 years old, also a Negro student nurse at the hospital. Miss Eason told them she saw a revolver on a bed and, thinking it was a toy pistol, picked it up and pulled the trigger. The gun discharged, the bullet striking Miss Keeps, 20, in the head.

The revolver belonged to Calvin Simmons, a Negro, 4565 Cote Brilliante avenue, who was in the room at the time of the shooting, police reported. He said he had lent it to Miss Keeps for her protection. Miss Eason was held for a coroner's inquest.

OSCAR C. OBROCK, RETIRED TITLE FIRM EMPLOYE, DIES

Oscar C. Obrock, former chief clerk for the Title Insurance Corp., died yesterday of cancer at his home at 2132 Adelaide avenue. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Obrock had been employed by the firm and its predecessor, the Title Guaranty Trust Co., from 1904 until his retirement a year ago. He was assigned throughout those years to the Recorder of Deeds' office at City Hall.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Katie Obrock, and a son, Milton Obrock. Funeral services will be Monday at 2 p.m. at the Math Hermann undertaking establishment, 2161 East Fair avenue, with burial in Valhalla Cemetery.

S.W. Bell in Illinois

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Shocking is the word for the Dec. 31 announcement that Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. is seeking to impose higher rates on East Side subscribers.

According to the Dec. 14 issue of the Wall Street Journal, Southwestern Bell's system-wide net income after taxes increased $8,645,329, to total $45,598,672, for the first 10 months of 1953 over the like period for 1952.

This splendid showing was made possible in part by rate increases imposed on East Siders in 1950, 1951 and 1953. East St. Louis, Granite City, Belleville, Edgemont, New Athens, O'Fallon, Lebanon and Freeburg are served by Southwestern Bell, and only the first two communities have dial service.

Especially shocking is this plan because East Side subscribers, particularly business subscribers, are already paying substantially more for their telephone service than people in comparable communities.

* * *

For example, a single party business subscriber in Granite City now pays a base rate of $14 per month, exclusive of taxes; in Alton, $10.50. In East St. Louis, a four-party residence subscriber pays $3.65 per month; in St. Joseph, Mo., $3.. A non-dial, eight-party rural residential subscriber in O'Fallon pays $3.15 per month; in Peotone, Ill., $2.90 for dial service.

The telephone company tells us it has had increased labor expense ($451,000) due to wage increases granted in 1952 and 1953. It does not tell us that about 30 per cent of this figure is not relevant to our intrastate rates, but affects only interstate rates; nor that at least 52 per cent of this figure is passed on to the Government in the form of tax deductions.

The company does admit an increase in revenue due to the 1953 raising of pay station rates from five cents to 10 cents, but it does not mention the increase in revenue from new installations. Further, the company keeps silent on the decrease in expenses that has resulted from the dial system.

* * *

Why does the telephone company announce only the amount of the increase and not the rates after adjusting for the increase? The answer is found in the tariffs on file with the Illinois Commerce Commission:

Class of Service.	Proposed Monthly Base Rate.
NEW ATHENS AND O'FALLON
Business, 1 party	$10.50
Residence, 2 party	4.00
Rural business, 8 party	5.50
Rural residence, 8 party	3.90
GRANITE CITY AND BELLEVILLE
Business, 1 party	$14.50
Residence, 2 party	4.75
Rural business, 8 party	8.25
Rural residence, 8 party	4.65
EAST ST. LOUIS
Business, 1 party	$17.00
Residence, 2 party	5.25
EAST ST. LOUIS AND GRANITE CITY (ILlinois and BRidge numbers)
Business, 1 party	$27.00
Residence, 2 party	8.50

What will the city governments, the Chambers of Commerce, the unions and the unorganized subscribers do and say? Individual statements of concern and token opposition have never been and are not enough.

Only by able, forthright and concerted opposition before the Illinois Commerce Commission and, if necessary, the courts can we East Siders protect our pocketbooks from Southwestern Bell.

Going Down Hill?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

What's the matter with this Administration? Everything is going down hill at a rapid speed: Unemployment increasing, factory help cut to a minimum, farmers throwing up their hands, crime increasing.

We ought to raise taxes—all taxes, if necessary, but keep employment at a maximum! Many factory owners, contractors and laborers who, in some way or other suffered from the recent abundance of pink slips, will never admit that they voted for this "Republican prosperity."

Garbage Into Fertilizer

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Why cannot St. Louis do as some other cities are doing, grind its garbage and convert it into fertilizer instead of floating it down the Mississippi river? The sale of fertilizer would create a profit for the city instead of an expense in disposal. The writer has had several years experience with this type of fertilizer and has found it very successful and overwhelmingly productive.

WM. H. BENERT, Secretary, Regional Council of Men's Garden Clubs of Greater St. Louis.

The Hulahan Conviction

Although found guilty on all eight counts of an indictment charging violation of the federal anti-racketeering law, there is a chance—probably a very slight chance—that Paul H. Hulahan, local labor boss, may escape the penalties of the law as he has on previous occasions.

This chance lies in the argument of his lawyer that the activities on which Hulahan's conviction was based did not affect interstate commerce and so are beyond federal jurisdiction. Chief Judge George H. Moore of the United States District Court kept this question from the jury, stating that it involves a point of law which he himself will decide.

No doubt, Judge Moore will approach the matter in an absolutely judicial manner. Until he does, however, the latest chapter in the Hulahan story will not be closed.

Should Judge Moore overrule Hulahan's counsel, the business agent of Local 42, AFL Building Laborers and Hodcarriers' Union, will face the possibility of a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000 on each count.

It is hardly proper to anticipate any man's punishment in court. But there is cause for satisfaction in the knowledge afforded by the Hulahan case and more recent indictments that the federal prosecuting machinery again is moving against labor shake-downs and other forms of racketeering in this area.

In the summer of 1951, the Post-Dispatch disclosed how these activities were inflating building costs in and around St. Louis. All groups in this community, including especially its working people, are proud of its fine reputation for law observance. They want none of the gangsterism and corruption which have blackened civic life elsewhere—especially since the continuation of such evils would be a severe handicap in the effort of St. Louis to avoid decay and achieve new heights of municipal progress.

The Hulahan case may be left to Judge Moore and the law. But the condition which it represents is of vital concern to all citizens. They will continue to look to the Department of Justice to provide the help necessary if grand juries and courts are to stamp it out.

Making an Impression

A question which arises in many a young man's mind about the time he starts washing behind his ears in earnest has been solved.

The question in question is what are the best means of impressing the girls. Turning handsprings, of course, is a standard solution of the problem. So is climbing trees. Another method in frequent use is drawing up a good right arm and showing one's muscle.

None of these devices, time-tested though they are, have seemed to produce the desired sensational result. The solver of this dilemma is a 33-year-old English truck driver, unexpectedly enough. He climbed a church spire and rescued a sea gull that was impaled on a lightning rod. When he descended, the reception was all that the most boyish dreamer could have hoped for. Women mobbed him, flung their arms around him and kissed him.

So now everyone knows. To impress a girl, save a sea gull. There ought to be some easier way of doing it than the English truck-driver took, though. That church spire was 100 feet high. Or if it's always that hard to save a sea gull, we guess a fellow could learn to be satisfied with a girl friend who was beautiful, intelligent, and unimpressed.

Wrong Paragraph in Korea

The latest Communist misinterpretation of the Korean truce terms seems to be based on this assumption: If you read all the chapters but the last one, you do not need to know how the story comes out.

Should war prisoners be freed on Jan. 23 or detained? The U.N. command says they should be freed. The Communist command says they should be kept as prisoners, on grounds that the truce agreement calls for submission of the problem of what to do with them to a political conference.

One paragraph does say this. The paragraph states that 90 days after prisoners have been given into the custody of the Neutral Nations Repatriations Commission, efforts to win them back to one side or the other shall cease, and "the question of disposition . . . shall be submitted to a political conference."

This conference has not been held, and in view of Communist obstructionism in the prisoner issue, it may not be held for a long time. Moreover, the paragraph mentioning the political conference is not the final, or deciding, statement on prisoners. It is followed by this statement:

> The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission shall declare the relief from the prisoner of war status to civilian status of any prisoners of war who have not exercised their right to be repatriated and for whom no other disposition has been agreed to by the political conference within 120 days after the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission has assumed their custody.

On Jan. 22, the 120 days will be up. Since no other disposition can be agreed to by a political conference which has not been held, the prisoners ought to be freed from behind the barbed wire. Nothing is to be gained by holding them into the uncertain and cruel future.

That is the U.N. position and it is the only honest and humane interpretation of the Korean truce terms.

Policing the County

The St. Louis county grand jury's recommendation for creation of a "centralized" police force west of Skinker falls somewhat short of the ideal solution to the county's police problem. That solution is the establishment of a metropolitan police force operating in both St. Louis and the county.

Such a force ought to be able to police the entire metropolitan area cheaper and more efficiently than two or more separate departments. Moreover, a metropolitan force could make good use of the St. Louis department's headquarters and special facilities. These probably would have to be duplicated in Clayton at considerable cost if the county police were organized as a separate department.

Formidable legal obstacles stand in the way of either a metropolitan force or a compulsory, consolidated department for the whole county. To set up a county-wide force, for example, it might be necessary to amend the State Constitution, and a study by a board of freeholders certainly would be a necessary preliminary to the metropolitan department.

In any event, the grand jury's position is not likely to be the principal factor in this matter. A citizens' committee on law enforcement has been examining the problem, and its report will carry much more weight around the Courthouse. If it strikes out for metropolitan unity, so much the better.

Not Clear Enough

When two such tireless Red hunters as Col. Robert R. McCormick's Chicago Daily Tribune and Nevada's Senator Pat McCarran are hesitant in accepting a device to punish Communist conspirators, surely the counsel is not to go unheeded. Speaking of President Eisenhower's proposal to de-citizenize American citizens who may be convicted of Communist conspiracy, Senator McCarran says the idea is "half-baked" while the Tribune wants to know "how it can be achieved within the bounds of the Constitution."

The fact is that the President's proposal was not clearly enough stated for any certain idea to be held about it. Felons are now deprived of important privileges of citizenship. For example, they cannot vote. What more the President and Attorney General Brownell may have in mind must await clarification, if they care to give it.

Meantime it is not a little interesting that the Republican chairmen of the Senate and House Judiciary Committees, Senator Langer of North Dakota, and Representative Chauncey Reed of Illinois, neither of whom is a coddler of subversives, have carefully refrained from hasty indorsement. Clearly the White House made no effort to line up support in advance.

The idea apparently is to allow the proposal to stand or fall on its feasibility. It has already served the purpose of allowing Congress an opportunity to give vent to enthusiastic and sustained applause.

Getting Ready to Talk

The Soviet Union has agreed to hold a preliminary meeting in Washington this month to discuss the time and place for negotiations on President Eisenhower's plan for a U.N. atomic energy pool.

It might be a good idea for both sides, at the beginning of that preliminary conference, to remind themselves of one of the essential elements of the President's plan. This was that the negotiations should be carried out privately.

In his speech before the U.N., President Eisenhower made a public offer to enter private negotiations. Two weeks later the Soviet Union made a public announcement of willingness to enter such negotiations. Now the United States has publicly suggested a preliminary conference, and the Soviet Union has publicly accepted the proposal.

Up to now all this spotlighted sparring has been understandable and probably justified by the long record of hostility and misunderstanding between East and West. But if both sides now desire to enter private negotiations, all they have to do is enter private negotiations.

One of the most hopeful aspects of the President's proposal was that it did contemplate "confidential or diplomatic" talks—the kind of talks which had been suggested by the U.N. disarmament resolution on which his plan was based. In recent years the world has seen all too many diplomatic duels where the purpose was to score public propaganda points rather than to reach agreement. President Eisenhower's plan offered hope that the old deadlocks could be circumvented, just as obstacles to a Korean truce were circumvented, if both sides entered private negotiations in good faith.

Under these circumstances, the sooner the negotiations become private, the better.

Star-Gazers Are Just Old-Fashioned

It is disappointing to hear that the British astrologers have gone defeatist. C. F. O. Carter, their delegate at the international meeting of star-gazers in Paris, admitted that they can handle just about every problem under the sun (It is a star, too!) except how to win on the races.

It isn't so much that thoroughbreds can be indifferent to astral influences as the involvement of other factors: the owner, the jockey, the trainer, the practice boys and, we suppose, also the judges. But this complaint that diverse elements complicate the problem simply cannot be accepted.

The British star-gazers can put all the touts at Epsom out of business if they will only properly punch little cards for horse, jockey, owner, etc. and feed them into one of those "thinking-machines." In just the moment it takes the machine to whirl, the bells to ring and the lights to go on, they will have their answer—the winner in the Fifth and even the price he will pay.

Not By the John L. Lewis Book

Every now and then the International Ladies Garment Makers' Union renews its hold on the gold cup for the most reasonable trade union.

The high point was reached some years ago when the union told the New York garment industry that it was rapidly losing out to other fashion centers. The union would ask no wage increase that year, if the employers would put some money into an advertising campaign to keep themselves in business and the union members in jobs.

It would be time to talk about pay when the results of this campaign became clear. (The ads, by the way, were a big success, and the union got pay increases with thanks instead of after a wrangle.)

That feat may never be surpassed, but the ILGWU has again done the unorthodox by offering to sign a five-year contract without wage increases (unless there is a rise of more than 5 per cent in living costs) provided the employers increase their contributions to the industry's joint pension fund. The ILGWU wants enough money available to retire workers as they become eligible. No new "fringe benefit" is asked, only enough to make the old contract work.

The reason most frequently given for the good employer relations of this union, headed by the bouncy David Dubinsky, is that many employers once were union members. Maybe so; but the Garment Workers had their battles for recognition and bargaining power. What saved them from renewals of the struggle was acceptance of the interdependence of employer and employe. No shop, no job. No pay-check, no customer. They were in a joint enterprise.

That did not end all differences about rates and hours. It did, however, bring the arguments into the family instead of leaving them to "my gang" and "your gang."

Still to Be Heard From

So far we have seen no comment on the State of the Union message from a member of Congress who hung up a record for the Republicans in the last session, namely, Representative Noah Mason of Illinois, who voted against Eisenhower proposals 76 per cent of the time in 1953.

A Lesson From the Bricklayers

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Costs in heavy brick and concrete construction rose 68 per cent in St. Louis since 1946; wages and materials up 36 per cent; profiteering and restrictive trade practices make up rest; bricklayers have "boondoggled themselves out of steady work."

From The Milwaukee Journal

Restrictive union practices in the construction industry not only feed inflation by raising costs of building but may, in the end, prove costly to workers themselves.

A survey by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of the bricklayer situation in the St. Louis area bears out both these facts. The cost of heavy brick and concrete construction in St. Louis has gone up 68 per cent since 1946. Wages and material cost increases account for only 36 per cent of that rise.

The rest is accounted for in part by some profiteering by contractors, but in the main by restrictive practices of the AFL bricklayers' union, the survey shows.

Years ago, St. Louis contractors report, bricklayers could lay 2000 to 3000 bricks a day. Today the average bricklayer, working at ordinary capacity, can lay 1000. The difference is not slowdown or laziness—it's accounted for by the fact that today's brick walls for the most part require each brick to be lined up perfectly, for each brick shows on the outside of the wall. There used to be more solid masonry walls, about 21 inches thick, and only face bricks needed perfect alignment.

But—and here's the rub—on some St. Louis construction jobs bricklayers since the war have averaged only 200 bricks a day. (A large Milwaukee builder says his masons lay 800 a day.)

Contractors have lost money on several major St. Louis area jobs because of what they charge has been a bricklayers' slowdown. The unions dictated to contractors and refused to furnish men to those who wouldn't knuckle under. Unions demanded premium pay and held apprenticeship programs to a minimum to keep a labor shortage. Costs of brick construction zoomed.

The result? Most big construction jobs in the St. Louis area now are making use of other materials—corrugated asbestos siding, tiltup concrete wall panels, metal wall panels and other substitutes.

The Union Electric Co. of St. Louis estimates that by changing from brick to other construction on recent new buildings it has saved $4.55 a square foot on one job and $5.84 a square foot on another job over its most recent brick construction work—work on which bricklayers averaged only 200 bricks bricks a day. Other companies report similar experience.

Today St. Louis bricklayers, who for several years rejected home construction jobs for big jobs on which union control could be better exerted, are finding work hard to get. They're canvassing real estate developers for work. They've dropped demands for overtime. They have ceased what had been an expanding demand for special treatment and pay.

They have, in fact, boondoggled themselves out of steady work and damaged the base of their own trade by restrictive practices. There's a lesson there for the entire construction trade.

TVA After Twenty Years

From The New York Times

The Tennessee Valley Authority in its annual report at the end of 20 years of operation is able to point to some great material achievements in the region it serves. The consumption of electricity has risen from 1.5 billion kilowatt hours annually to 24 billion kilowatt hours—several times more rapidly than the nation-wide increase.

The report presents TVA's power operations as "self-supporting and self-liquidating." There has been and will be endless dispute as to the power bookkeeping in the TVA reports, but the figures do show a net rate on the estimated power investment of 2.7 per cent last year and as high as 5.8 per cent in some years. Finally, some $81,000,000 has been paid back into the United States Treasury for use to retire bonds.

At the same time—TVA has continued as directed by law to develop and maintain navigation in the Tennessee basin; has developed new fertilizers and encouraged better farm practices; it has worked effectively in the conservation of soil and forests; it has stimulated industries, including such private giants as the Aluminum Co. of America and such public giants as the atomic energy plants.

The controversial element in TVA has always been and will doubtless remain its power operations. Criticism in some quarters has increased as the Authority has found it necessary to build steam plants to supplement its hydroelectric plants. A private company would not be criticized for doing this, but a public agency, established to develop a river, might not be expected to derive 36 per cent of its power from steam, as TVA did last year.

President Eisenhower was thought to have had TVA in mind when he spoke some months ago of "creeping socialism," but he has disclaimed any intention to sell TVA, literally or otherwise, down the river. The whole idea will probably come under sharp examination in the new session of Congress, but TVA can stand it—it has done a good job.

Dictionary Term

From a Letter in the Christian Science Monitor

Many men have made their names dictionary terms by certain deeds—Lynch, who took the law into his own hands; Hobson, who gave his customers only one choice; Quisling, the Norwegian traitor; and Boycott are among these.

In mid-November, former President Harry Truman said that Senator McCarthy's "name has taken on a dictionary meaning." His definition was anything but flattering to the Senator. Curious to see if "McCarthyism" was really going to become a standard part of our language, I queried the editors of two famous dictionaries. Fellow Monitor readers may be interested in their replies.

The general editor of the Merriam-Webster dictionaries wrote me: "We are collecting in our files numerous instances of the use of this word ('McCarthyism'). Later we shall study these quotations, and when it appears that the meaning may be said to have settled or stabilized itself, we will consider writing a definition on the basis of our collected evidence. Only then will we be able to say whether the word has established itself in the language with sufficient force to warrant being included in our dictionaries."

The editors of the Funk & Wagnalls dictionaries informed me: "The term 'McCarthyism' was picked up by us in 1950 and included in our Supplement No. 5 of New Words and Words in the News. Since then it has acquired a much broader meaning and is well on the way to achieving the dictionary status referred to by Mr. Truman."

Personally, I do not believe Mr. Truman's definition can be improved upon.

Between Book Ends

Mellow and Sprightly

THE AMERICAN DRINK BOOK, by S. S. Field. (Farrar, Strauss and Young, 282 pgs., $4.50.)

Obviously a man deeply in love with his subject, Mr. Field has worked with devotion and zest to produce a book that is, in its own particular fashion, a 10 strike. "An elegant volume," his publishers call it, and it is precisely that—a beautiful and valuable work, mellow and sprightly by turn.

Here is, in one of its several facets, a history of drinking in this country, told with anecdote and bright episode and a happy wit. Whatever the urbane continentals may think, the subject has a long and fairly honorable record in these states. Mr. Field was born and reared in New Orleans, that joyous center of good spirits as well as good spirit; and that fact (to a prejudiced fellow-native) helps explain the book's understanding and devotion to its materials.

But Mr. Field does not confine his attention to the Creole city. With true tolerance, he pays tribute to Puerto Ricans, Rhode Islanders, Virginians and Old World residents; in the process of flavorsome research he has tossed some odd facts and assorted information into the bowl. After "A Glassful of History" he introduces us to "Stills, Stirrups and Steeples" and "Wit, Wisdom and Wine."

With that Mr. Field gets down to cases, in a "College of Wining and Dining," with descriptions and evocations of the five best known red and white table wine types, and variations on the first five themes of Bacchus. Appetizer wines, dessert wines, sparkling wines, the care and uses of wine. . . . If you want more the author will tell you how to "know and buy American wines" and also French ones. Next he takes you through a "quicker liquor curriculum on spirits and beer," offering "what you should know about rum," ditto about brandy, gin, vodka and liqueurs. One large section of the book is "The Complete Bartender and the Hundred Greatest American Drinks"—alone worth, of course, the price of admission.

This delighted reviewer can give personal testimony to Mr. Field's collection of recipes in which food and spirits are mixed—"Now You're Cooking With Liquor." Here it is necessary only to recite a few titles, "rum Boston cream pie," "brandied gooseberry fool," "strawberries 'Ruminoff," "ham steak in red wine," "beef Kill Divil," "brandied turkey with butternut dressing," "intoxicated rack of lamb," and, to prove that Mr. Fields is no mere aristocrat, "hamburgers Burgundy"!

Here, too, are some handsome photographs of flip, toddy and wine glasses, ring flasks and (oddly) an ancient root-beer bottle; all-purpose wine glasses and some lively period cuts. All this and social-economic comment as well. For Mr. Field informs us that it was over his toddies that the common man "came to grips with the moral issues of the day." To prove it he presents an eighteenth century tavern sign showing social consciousness, a demand for "Pacem et Libertatem." The volume is dedicated to the author's mother, Flo Field, "a great woman" (and also, he might have added, a great lady), herself a more than gifted writer of the South.

CATHOLIC CHURCH RAISING FUNDS FOR OLD PARISH

Emil Frei Creates Three New Windows for St. Charles Borromeo, Locust Street.

By JOHN W. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Restoration of the property of St. Charles Borromeo Church, 2901 Locust street, is being carried forward in the new year. The old brick church of the Capuchin Franciscans is being completely remodeled and beautified to serve as a center of Catholic devotions.

A parish debt of $55,000 was incurred, and this now is being raised. More than 500 patrons have made reservations for the second annual benefit dinner and concert which the parish will give at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Sheraton Hotel.

Last year the parish house was completely rebuilt and refurnished, and an outdoor prayer garden was created in the rectangle between the church and monastery.

A door has been cut in the west wall of the church opening on the garden, with the effect of bringing the garden and its shrine and stations of the cross closer to the church and altar. Emil Frei, designer and creator of art glass, made a beautiful tiny door light for this opening. Theme of the small glass is Mary, Queen of Peace, same theme as for the garden. There is a crown over the Virgin's head and only one word in the inscription below—Pax (peace).

Frei has also done two windows of identical size, 1½ by 5 feet, for two small corner rooms at the Locust or vestibule end of the church. These two small rooms, which were little more than ante-rooms, have been transformed into beautiful sanctuaries. The southwest room is a baptistry, and the southeast room a shrine.

The window in the baptistry shows a dove, typifying the Holy Spirit at the top, and below, a lily, emblem of purity. At the very bottom of the window is thte word of salutation, "Ave." This is, of course, in the tradition of art for a baptistry. The baptistry has the figure of the Infant Jesus of Prague.

In the window of the shrine, the principal figure is a large palm leaf, with the rising sun shown below. Above the leaf there is a crown, and under it the inscription "Alleluia." Both windows are modernistic in design, and in the shrine Frei used a pale gray-blue glass that is effective against southern exposure.

The next large item of improvement in the church will be new art glass windows, and Frei has started work on these. The cost has been subscribed.

St. Charles Borromeo Church was founded in 1902 as a parish for Italian-speaking Catholics, in a building which had been St. John's Methodist Church. The Capuchin Franciscans were given charge of the parish in 1943, and the work of restoration was begun.

The Rev. Joseph Adams, O.F.M., Cap., is the pastor.

GUEST PASTORS WILL TAKE PART IN FEAST OF LIGHTS

Pastors of several churches will take part in the Epiphany Feast of Lights at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Goodfellow boulevard and Cates avenue, at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow. The Rev. John Craine, rector of Christ Church, Indianapolis, Ind., will be guest preacher.

Epiphany recalls the coming of the Magi to Bethlehem on the Twelfth night of Chirstmas, and marks the time when the gospel was first made known to Gentiles. In the symbolic service, the light of a large candle on the altar, representing Christ, is gradually spread through the darkened church until every corner is lighted by candles.

Clergy taking part will include the Rev. Dr. Hampton Adams, Union Avenue Christian Church; the Rev. Roy Brown, Cabanne Methodist Church; the Rev. Dr. William B. Lampe, West Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Dr. Allen Hackett, Pilgrim Congregational Church; the Rev. Stephen Klepka, SS. Cyril and Methodosius Polish Catholic Church; the Rev. Leon Robison, Second Baptist Church, and the Rev. Dr. O. Walter Wagner, Metropolitan Church Federation.

UNION AVENUE MARKS PASTOR'S 15TH YEAR

Dr. Hampton Adams' Church Reduces Building Debt by 80 Per Cent.

About 550 members and friends of Union Avenue Christian Church attended the recent reception held in honor of the fifteenth anniversary of the Rev. Dr. Hampton Adams as pastor. Many others sent telegrams and letters.

The Rev. Dr. Adams came to St. Louis from a Disciples pastorate at Frankfort, Ky. He is a former president of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ, and of the St. Louis Metropolitan Church Federation.

The current budget of Union Avenue Church, about $100,000, plus $15,000 for the building fund, is the largest in the congregation's history, and is fully subscribed.

Last week's issue of the parish paper reported that the debt on the educational building has been reduced by more than 80 per cent. The building, which adjoins the church at Union boulevard and Enright avenue, was completed in 1947 at a cost of $343,000. This debt has been reduced to about $60,000.

At Christmas the congregation gave more than $2500 for the St. Louis Christian Home and the Home for the Aged at Jacksonville, Ill. On the last Sunday of 1953, more than $15,000 was given for the bulding fund.

Union Avenue Church has a new organist, Wayne H. Balch, who is assistant professor of music at Lindenwood College. Minister of music is Milton F. Rehg, professor of music at Lindenwood.

Miss Mabel Conway, a native of Marshall, Mo., has been secretary to the minister since 1925. The church has 2100 members.

Pastors Give $250.

Pastor of Evangelical and Reformed Churches put $250 on the collection plate Wednesday for their federation which supports Caroline Mission, Fellowship Center, and City Hospital chaplains. The appeal for the offering was made by the Rev. Dr. Elmer H. Hoefer of St. Peter's Church.

East Germans Wring Good From Soviet Evil, St. Louisan Says

Soviet occupation of East Germany has brought a good to the churches which the Communists never intended, the Rev. Dr. Lawrence B. Meyer said in an interview here this week. He is planning counselor for the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, and has just returned from his eleventh trip to Germany since 1945.

According to the Rev. Dr. Meyer, the "good" which has come from Soviet influence is the removal from state church rolls of "thousands upon thousands" of members who have been affiliated with the church "in name only."

"By custom," he said, "Germans are born into the church—are baptized, confirmed, married, and buried in and from a church. But during the less poignant parts of their lives the church claims little of their interest or allegiance.

"Soviet laws forcing complete separation of church and state have prompted Eastern zone residents to cut all ties with their church backgrounds. Now the Lutheran Free Churches of Germany are free to try to win spiritually dead timber for a new, vital church membership.

"The task is monumental, German churchmen admit. The Missouri Synod will continue to provide funds for the growing challenge."

The Rev. Dr. Meyer said he found on his visit that the most encouraging aspect in German church life was an increasing sense of responsibility on the part of pastors and lay people. He pointed out that in the past German churches were dependent for financial support on the state. "This practice killed all initiative on the part of the individual, pastor and people alike," he said.

"That spirit of missions which was found in such a small percentage of the German people is beginning to expand into the congregations."

THE REV. DR. EDSON WILL SPEAK HERE

American Baptist President to Be Guest of Third Church Wednesday.

The Rev. Dr. Winfield Edson, president of the American (northern) Baptist Convention, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of Third Baptist Church, Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

He is pastor of First Baptist Church, Long Beach, Calif., a church that has started 10 new churches during the 14 years he has been its minister. At the same time the congregation has built its own new meeting house that cost $1,000,000. During these 14 years the membership of the church has grown from 1500 to 3700.

Born in Red Cloud, Nebr., the Rev. Dr. Edson is the son of a Baptist pastor. During his senior year in college he served the church at Oxford, Nebr., which his father had served 16 years before.

Upon his graduation in 1937 from the Baptist Divinity School at Berkeley, Calif., he was called to preach as a candidate at Fremont., Nebr., but could not raise the money for train fare. He and Mrs. Edson made home movies of themselves which they to the Fremont church, and he was called as pastor.

Football TV Sponsor Reported Unlikely to Pick Up $4,000,000 Tab Unless Program Is Changed

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9 (AP)—Unless the National Collegiate Athletic Association changes its television policy, the chances are it will have to get someone new to pick up the $4,000,000 tab.

It will be several weeks before the N.C.A.A. determines just what its policy will be, although it appears committed to the same game-a-week program which poured 12 single games and one panorama show over the network last fall.

The Associated Press learned yesterday in New York General Motors, which backed the 1953 program to the tune of more than $4,000,000, is so displeased with the outlook it may decline to open its coffers again this year.

General Motors might go along if the nation's top games could be made available each week, instead of being forced to accept a set schedule made up months in advance.

New Committee Named.

Whether the N.C.A.A. would be willing to change the format is problematical. A new committee to set up the 1954 plans was named today. It has slightly broader regulations under which to operate. But it still must contend with a strong suggestion from the forty-eighth annual convention delegates that the program approximate that of 1953, with games being broadcast from all sectors—a feature which could sidetrack the week's top contests in favor of a lesser one due to the geographical restrictions.

J. Shober Barr of Franklin and Marshall College, one of the small college representatives on the 1953 television committee, said today:

"If the check is too big, in General Motors' opinion, maybe we'd do well to cut the amount given the competing colleges—which might not be a bad idea anyway.

"Some of us have tried to have the television rights granted free by the colleges as a public service, with the fees going to the Olympic fund, the football and basketball halls of fame, and other things which we support—but we've gotten no place with the idea.

"I'm against regional television, but we may have to come to that with different sponsors in each area, or have multiple sponsors if we stick with the national program."

Bushnell's Comment.

Asa Bushnell, Eastern Collegiate Commissioner and 1953 director of the N.C.A.A. television program, said, when told of General Motors' attitude:

"There's nothing we can do now. The 1953 committee has ceased to function. The 1954 committee hasn't been named, and after it is named it must formulate its program and have it approved by a mail vote of the colleges."

Bushnell said the N.C.A.A., as an association, did not receive the funds paid by the sponsors.

"In 1951 we assessed each of the colleges 18 per cent of its fee, but returned 6 per cent. In 1952 we assessed 12 per cent and returned 5 per cent. In 1953 we assessed 7 per cent, and we'll refund part of that. The money is used to finance our television committee's activities."

Meanwhile the N.C.C.A. had another television worry as it viewed the airway competition of the National Football League.

In the next-to-last session of the N.C.A.A. convention, the American Football Coaches Association presented an eight-point program for improving coaching ethics.

The coaches, deploring occasional extra-rough play, suggested conference committees be given the power to banish from football squads any player whose conduct is detrimental to the best interest of the game. They also suggested using game movies to determine when such abuses take place.

Picking Winner Is Unethical.

The coaches formally viewed as unethical picking weekly game winners, organized sideline coaching, faking injuries, scouting opponents' practice sessions, falsifying players' weights and exchanging game movies except when authorized.

Penn's GeGorge Munger was chosen president of the coaches' groups.

The N.C.A.A. voted limits of 10 games a season on football schedules, 26 on basketball seasons, exclusive post-season games.

Set Sept. 1—or two weeks prior to opening of classes—as the earliest starting date for fall football practice and Nov. 1 as the earliest start of basketball practice.

Set Dec. 1 as the earliest date for a regular season basketball game.

Bratowski and South Choices In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 9 (UP)—The prospect of clear, mild weather and the throwing arm of Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski made the South a favorite over a bigger North squad in the fifth annual Senior bowl today.

The experts believed the passes of Bratkowski and his substitute South quarterbacks, Vince Dooley of Auburn and Jim Gray of East Texas State, unhampered by weather handicaps, would spell the difference between the two 24-man squads of college seniors getting their first taste of play-for-pay football.

'53 World Series Film Shown Here First Time

The first St. Louis showing of the 1953 world series was presented yesterday by the Cardinals yesterday at a luncheon in the Anheuser-Busch office building.

As usual the Yankees starred, winning four games to two. The many close-up shots include Carl Erskine, who set a series record by striking out 14 Yankees in one game, and Billy Martin, Yankees' batting star.

The movie audience included Stan Musial and Del Rice.

Prints of the film are now available to organizations. There is a $2 service charge.

St. Louis's Opener in The Valley

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

DETROIT, Jan. 9—The way Eddie Hickey looks at tonight's game between his St. Louis University basketball team and the University of Detroit is that neither can afford to lose.

It will be the first Missouri Valley Conference start of the season for the Billikens when they take the floor at 7:15 o'clock, St. Louis time. It will be Detroit's fourth league game after two losses at Houston and one to Wichita.

"I predict the Valley champion will lose at least two games," Hickey said. "That is about the way Detroit will be looking at it and I expect it to figure this game is sort of a last-ditch stand in its hopes to figure in the race."

Hopes for Race Down to Wire.

For his Billikens a victory is equally imperative, Hickey said, "because it's our hope, strategically, to be successful early against conference opponents, so that we can make it a race down to the wire when we get back to full strength."

Hickey thus entertained hopes that the ailing scoring ace, Dick Boushka, and rebounder Jack Shockley might be in action later in the season when St. Louis plays the Oklahoma Aggies Feb. 10 at St. Louis and March 6 at Stillwater.

Detroit, with a season record of six victories and seven defeats, is a bit of a puzzle at this stage. It lost four of its top five scorers from last season, but, even with a pair of sophomores on the back line, it has been regarded as potential title contender by Hickey.

The record against it, so far, has been spotty. It beat Toledo, which earlier was only a three-point loser to high and mighty Duquesne, but, before that, Detroit had lost to St. Bonaventure.

In addition it has been walloped by Bowling Green and Notre Dame and was well contained by Houston twice.

But in their last start, Bob Calihan's Titans were barely nosed out in overtime by Wichita, which is highly regarded in the Valley this season, and that stands as the only Detroit loss on its home floor.

Quite a Noisy 'Bird.'

Guy (The Bird) Sparrow, 6-foot-5, 200-pound forward, is the top hand, with an average of 17.5 points a game. Other regulars are George Fefeles, 6-2 forward, Bob Decker, 6-6 center, and sophomore guards Ralph Goldstein, 5-11, and Dan Halling, 5-10. Goldstein's scoring average is 14.5 and Halling, after a 25-point performance against Wichita, is averaging 10.8.

"Detroit has a lot of power," Hickey observed. "Sparrow is an outcourt shooter like Boushka, but heavier and stronger. Decker is big and hefty and Fefeles is rugged, too. I suppose we'll be the underdog."

Elsewhere tonight the Valley race will begin to take shape with Wichita (2-0) playing at Tulsa (0-0) and Houston (2-1) at Oklahoma A.&M. (0-0).

Nary Is Leader With 67 Score

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (UP)—Links pro Bill Nary, often a runner-up but never a major tourney winner, turned in a sizzling four under par 67 to hold a two-stroke lead today in the $20,000 Los Angeles Open.

Nary, of Tucson, Ariz., started the opening round of play yesterday with a one under par 34 for the outgoing nine, but warmed up on the incoming nine and shot a three under par 33.

The San Francisco-born contender, third in the Los Angeles Open two years ago, turned in one of his hottest performances and amazed the opening day crowd of 6500 at Fox Hills Country Club.

Three top-ranking touring pros came in two strokes behind Nary at two-under-par 69. Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., with 35-34, Jim Ferrier of San Francisco with 33-36 and Ed Oliver of Palm Springs with 34-35.

Out of the field of 150 players, seven tied at 70, six at 71 and 24, including defending champion Lloyd Mangrum, at 72.

Rose Poly Defeats Harris Five 65-44

Rose Poly handed Harris Teachers College a 65-44 defeat on the Concordia Seminary court last night. It was Harris' homecoming game. Harry Zorman, 15, paced the winners, while Bob Brown had 11 points for the losers.

Panter Retreats to the Ropes

—United Press Telephoto.

GARTH PANTER heads for ring ropes after being blasted on the chin by five consecutive right-hand blows from JOEY GIARDELLO in fifth round of scheduled 10-round middleweight bout at Madison Square Garden. Referee AL BERI stepped in and awarded Giardello a technical knockout victory at 1:16 of the round. There were no knockdowns.

Maplewood Wins, 50-49, As Webster Statesmen Miss 18 Free Throws

By Harold Tuthill

Bob (Sparky) Harris, diminutive Maplewood guard, reached his seventeenth birthday yesterday and his Maplewood mates helped him celebrate by beating Webster Groves, 50-49, in an eyelash finish of an opening Suburban League basketball game.

Webster missed 18 free throws, attributable somewhat to playing on the Leafs' court before the largest crowd in years, according to Fred Moseley, athletic director, who helped drag out folding chairs until the supply was exhausted. Any one of the missed free throws, had it been made, would have resulted in a tie score and an overtime.

As it was, some of the spectators believed Webster actually had coming a free throw not shown on the scoreboard, but a charity toss by one of the Statesman was nullified because he illegally was standing on the line within the free throw circle.

U. City Downs Clayton.

In other opening contests in the league which Webster dominated so forcefully a year ago, Normandy's Jim Johnston scored 20 points to lead the Vikings to a 48-36 triumph over Ladue; St. Charles beat Ferguson, 45-30, University City won from Clayton, 51-49, and Kirkwood defeated Brentwood, 54-41, as Arnold Ryan's club was held to one field goal in the third quarter.

The Webster-Maplewood game started as if it might be a walkaway for Tyke Yates's Statesmen. They jumped off to an early lead of 9-2. Then Herschel O'Kelley, John Wolff and Sherwood Carr hit from the floor to put the Statesmen in front, 15-9, at the quarter. Maplewood failed to score a field goal in the first eight minutes.

Howard Sanders's Leafs did better in the second period although Webster was a point better at 12-11, and Maplewood trailed at half, 27-20.

While the Webster offense was limited to Carr's free throw, Maplewood steadily cut into the lead until a field goal by Sparky Harris and a free throw by Bud Bruffee made the game brand new at 28-28. Bruffee gave the Leafs their first lead with a free throw.

Webster Again Takes Lead.

Webster forged ahead on a field goal and two free throws by Wolff and Bo Toft's free throw after Ralph Lang fouled out put the Orange and Black in front, 33-29. After Pirrie tallied from the free throw line, Toft scored from scrimmage and Webster was ahead, 35-30. That was the last time, however, as Maplewood reduced the gap on a field goal by Leon Poole, two free throws by Harris, and field goals by Pirrie and Poole as the Leafs led, 38-35, going into the last quarter.

Maplewood kept its edge, although Laurie Heineman, Webster sub, gave the fans a thrill when he canned two free throws with 11 seconds left to put the Statesmen within a point of a tie. Webster tried vainly to get possession of the ball as time ran out.

In registering its seventh triumph in eight games, Maplewood made only 10 buckets, 30 of its points coming on free throws. Webster, dropped to 5-4 for the season, tallied 18 fielders, eight of them by O'Kelley, who finished with 17 points. Harris topped Maplewood with 14.

Joe Giardello Kayoes Panter In Five Rounds

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (UP)—Joey Giardello of Philadelphia, the world's third-ranking middleweight contender, tagged rugged Garth Panter of Salt Lake City with the first knockout of his career last night when their bout was stopped at 1:16 of the fifth round.

Referee Al Berl stopped the fight when Panter was leaning almost helplessly against the ropes and credited Giardello with a technical kayo after Panter had been blasted with five consecutive rights to the chin in Madison Square Garden.

Panter, scaling 161 pounds to Giardello's 160, had come through 66 previous professional bouts without ever failing to go the distance. And he claimed never to have been floored. He was not floored last night although he went reeling around the ring from rope to rope and corner to corner in the fifth.

Giardello, just a fair puncher, appeared to be hitting with more power than usual as he registered his fourteenth knockout and his forty-seventh victory in 62 professional bouts.

Panter drew cheers for his aggressiveness from the 3560 fans who paid $9417 to be present at the nationally televised and broadcast encounter. For a middleweight who was not ranked among the top ten, he was giving the No. 3 man a whale of a bout until the roof fell in on him.

Holy Cross Triumphs.

Holy Cross won the Holy Cross invitational basketball tourney for Lutheran grade schools, defeating Ebenezer, 34-18 in the final. St. Paul of Des Peres took third place with 28-27 victory over Hope.

Trabert Wins From Hoad in Aussie Final

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 9 (INS)—Australian tennis star Lewis Hoad, was defeated by America's Tony Trabert, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 today in the final of the south Australian tennis championships.

Hoad, who defeated Trabert in the key match of the Davis Cup challenge round, seemed off form.

It was the 23-year-old Trabert's day and he played inspired tennis. The United States star broke through Hoad's service five times and never relinquished his own high-kicking delivery.

Trabert volleyed with almost uncanny skill and accuracy, sending Hoad on a frantic chase around his own end of the court.

Hoad's cannonball service—the artillery of the Davis Cup rounds—was not in evidence and he frequently drove returns into the net.

Before the match started Hoad received treatment for a strained right elbow while Trabert was treated for a sore right shoulder.

Speed Skaters In Elgin Meet

At least seven St. Louis speed skaters were expected to compete today and tomorrow at Elgin, Ill., in the combined Western Open and Tri-State carnivals which will be held outdoors on natural ice.

Joan Gadd, undefeated senior women's champion of the city, heads the Missouri Skating Association delegation, which also includes Dave and Jon Mars, John Richards, Mickey Davenport, Bill and Jim Hindle. Several officers of the M.S.A., including President D. C. Hindle and Bud Handlan, also were to make the trip.

Californians Bob Olson and Stan Fail, who arrived here 10 days early for the big St. Louis Silver Skates carnival a week from tomorrow at The Arena, also made the side trip to Elgin. A meeting between Olson and Jim Campbell, national indoor champion and St. Louis Silver Skates king, was in prospect and St. Louisans on the scene also hoped to get Campbell's entry for the Post-Dispatch meet Jan. 17.

McKinley, Roosevelt Play Feature Game

Two of the Public High League co-champions of a year ago will collide tonight at St. Louis University gymnasium on West Pine as the circuit resumes action after the holiday layoff.

McKinley, a technical pace-setter with a 2-0 league mark and 10-1 overall, will oppose Roosevelt in the 8 o'clock contest. They, together with Cleveland, shared final honors in 1953.

Roosevelt is 1-0 in the league and 9-1 over all.

The 6:30 engagement between Southwest and Hadley Tech could be a corker because both have shown good power at times. So, too, Beaumont's game with Soldan-Blewett, scheduled for 9:30, may be a lot closer than most fans expect. Soldan, however, has won only once in 10 starts, while two of Beaumont's losses have been to undefeated Cleveland and another to St. Louis U. High.

Missouri Valley Five Wins From Shurtleff

Mike Newell scored 22 points and Dave Lyon tallied 19 as Missouri Valley gained a 63-52 basketball victory over Shurtleff College in a game at Alton last night. Art Borchers paced the losers with 17 points.

The box score:

Tool Room Team Rolls Up 1099 High Single

The Wagner Electric tool room team rolled a scratch total of 1099, high for the season, in Thursday night league bowling at Embassy alleys.

Individual scores were R. Proske 234, J. Bacich 223, W. Salzman 180, O. Daake 230 and R. A. Eckert 232 as the team defeated Large Motors in two of three games.

Greenville College Wins.

Dale Hamvy's 23 points helped Greenville (Ill.) College gain a 63-37 basketball victory over Concordia Seminary of Springfield last night at Greenville.

'21-Point' Primas Is Hot Shot

Blair Gullion, Washington's veteran basketball coach, will have two main worries tonight: the unpredictable qualities of his own team's play and the sure-fire ability of Wayne University's Charlie Primas.

The six-foot-three Primas, a standout player at either forward or center, has been good for at least 20 points on each of two occasions on which Wayne played Washington the last two years.

Those two games resulted in a split, Wayne winning at Detroit two years ago, and then losing here last year. But so far as Gullion is concerned, there's no telling what will happen this time.

Main reason is that the in-and-out Bears have played some excellent games and then slumped badly in some. As a result the Bears have a 4-and-5 record as they go against Wayne (7-2) tonight at 8:15 at the Field House.

"I don't believe we're prepared for this game," Gullion said.

51-48 a Year Ago.

A year ago Washington gained a 51-48 decision over a Wayne team that had just lost three of its starters through ineligibility. This year's Wayne team still is minus those three fast-moving regulars, Kline, Wagner and Dean, but now Wayne boasts greater reserve power.

In fact Wayne Coach Joel G. Mason reports that the team has performed above his expectations. It has defeated Valparaiso and Central Michigan twice each, Western Ontario, Michigan Normal and Georgetown, D. C. Losses were to strong Toledo by two points and to St. Francis (Pa.) by three. Wayne hit only 29 per cent in the loss to St. Francis, and Primas scored only seven points.

Primas, however, is averaging 21 points a game this season, despite the fact that he has been double-teamed in every game. His ability was evident in the Motor City tournament involving Detroit U., Georgetown and Toledo. Primas was named the tournament's most valuable player.

Other Forward 6-Foot-4.

Paired with Primas at forward is 6-4 Tom Keller. Gene Boldon, 6-4, is the center. Senior Wally Ziemba, an outcourt hitter, is at one guard while the other guard position has been filled by Jerry Hutchins, Ulysses Harvey and Ron Porter.

Bear Coach Gullion just hopes that his regulars will have a good shooting night as they did in swamping Western Michigan. But since that performance, the Bears were outdone by Southern Illinois at Carbondale, where a fourth-quarter rally failed to produce a victory.

It was only in that quarter, Gullion said, that the Bears showed the spirit and hustle that has occasionally made them tough against major foes.

Washington's unbeaten Jayvees (7-0) will oppose the Scotts in a preliminary game at 6:15 p.m.

PREP PARADE

Codasco Hands John Burroughs Fourth Defeat

By John J. Archibald

Politicians might describe it as a "mild recession," but basketball isn't the same at John Burroughs this season. The school which climaxed a six-year reign among the smaller schools by winning the state Class B title in 1953, suffered its fourth defeat in five games at the hands of ABC League rival Country Day last night.

The final score was one that might have been large enough to be a halftime total in other days—32 to 30. It wasn't a control game that caused the basket scarcity, but more the opposite. Lack of control was the villain, as both teams fired futilely at the rim.

The annual miracle that Burroughs performed in battling on even terms the best of the big schools in the area can be better appreciated now. With only 120 male students to draw from, occasional scarcities of first-rate material must be expected. Burroughs was long overdue, which doesn't make the situation too gay for Erv Leimer, who replaced Ray Wolfe as basket coach.

Country Day's victory was its fourth against three losses. One of its earlier triumphs was over Burroughs, 58-37, so Coach Leimer regarded last night's verdict as a moral victory. Conquerors of Coach Don Webb's Codasco team include powerful St. Louis U. High, C.B.C., and Bayless.

The game, up until the closing minutes, was a dreary affair. Country Day had an 11-1 lead with a minute to go in the opening period before Burroughs got a field goal. Then baskets by Cliff Dimmitt and Hewes Agnew broke the ice, and the first quarter score was 13-6.

Charles Cella, whose 11 points made him the game's high scorer, hit two goals for Country Day in the second period, but Burroughs whittled the Codasco lead to 21-18 at the half.

The third quarter had even the most loyal fans thinking about an early departure, as the teams scored five points apiece. Missed opportunities, rather than strong defense, were the causes.

The Bombers rallied with a few minutes of the game remaining, and a goal by Dimmitt tied the score at 27-27 with 1:30 to go. A free throw by Joe Lintzenich made it 28-27.

Codasco regained the lead, 31-28, with baskets by Bill Englesmann and Charles Cella, however, and that was it. Ted Greensfelder supplied Burroughs's last two points on free throws, and Englesmann hit one for Country Day as the game ended.

Sumner Gains Victory Over St. L. U. High

Overcoming a six-point deficit in the final period, Sumner High School defeated St. Louis U. High, 50-48, in a nonleague basketball game last night. Ezell Henley and Levi Stockard paced the Sumner fourth quarter attack, each getting six points. For the game, Henley had 16. Jim Kramer paced the Junior Bills with 23.

The victory gave Sumner an 8-2 record for the campaign. It was the second defeat for St. Louis U. High which had won 11 contests.

East St. Louis continued on its winning ways, gaining its eighth consecutive victory, beating Herrin, 65-52. Ray Patfoprsty paced the winners with 25 points, while Lawrence had 23 for Herrin.

In Prep League games, DeAndreis won from St. Mary's, 68-63, while C.B.C. defeated McBride, 54-43. Jim Drese had 39 points for DeAndreis, while Joe Gummersbach of St. Mary's hit for 31.

OVERLAND MAN KILLED IN ILLINOIS HIGHWAY MISHAP

Automobile Ran Off Road on Curve and Hit Utility Pole — 2 Companions Hurt.

Robert H. Lacy, 8446 St. Charles road, Overland, was killed early today when his automobile ran off U. S. Highway 66 at Mitchell, Ill., and crashed into a utility pole. Two companions were injured.

Illinois state police said Lacy apparently lost control of his machine at a curve. Lacy, 29 years old, was married and had two children.

Darrell Long, 19, 9004 Trefore avenue, Berkeley City, and George Hoops, 21, 3909 Shirley avenue, Carsonville, who were riding with Lacy, were treated for minor injuries at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Granite City.

William C. Harrison, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harrison, 4130 Springdale avenue, Bel-Ridge, died today at County Hospital of injuries suffered yesterday when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Natural Bridge avenue near Springdale.

The driver, Alfred Smeehuyzen, 730 Baden avenue, told police he was driving east in Natural Bridge, which is a divided highway at that point. He swerved to avoid another automobile pulling out of a side road, he said, and struck the boy.

Pfc. Robert L. Moise, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Moise, 6801 Dale avenue, was killed in an automobile accident near Dixon, Mo., last Thursday, it was learned here yesterday.

He was driving alone when his machine overturned on State Route 28 about four miles north of U. S. Highway 66. Moise, 23, had been in service since last April and was stationed at Fort Leonard Wood. He formerly worked for his father, who operates a trucking firm.

Edward Harris, a Negro, was injured seriously last night when he was struck by an automobile, which sped away from the scene, in the 3300 block of Franklin avenue.

Harris, 27 years old, of 3320 Franklin, was taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital suffering from a head injury, fractured leg and shock. Witnesses told police the machine which struck him apparently was a taxicab.

DEWEY TO SEEK BOOST IN STATE'S SHARE AT TRACKS

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 9—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said yesterday that he would seek an emergency appropriation of $25,000,000 for state aid to education to be financed by increasing the state's share of parimutuel betting at harness race tracks.

He would make the funds available for the next school year and for the first time would allocate the money to cities and school districts on the basis of school population instead of utilizing the complex state aid for education formulae.

The state receives an average of 6 per cent of the parimutuel betting at seven harness tracks and there was every indication here that the Governor plans to boost the New York cut to 10 per cent and perhaps more.

The Governor said that last fall the state found that "there was too much money around the harness tracks and the gangsters moved in." He said that "it is a condition which is not going to continue."

Starch Waste Smothers Boy.

GRAND FALLS, N.B., Jan. 9 (AP)—To Frederick Boucher, 7 years old, the foamy white waste products of a starch factory looked like snow. He jumped into an eight-foot ditch filled with the stuff. Two classmates, who were on their way home from school with Frederick, called for help but by the time rescuers arrived the boy was dead.

Flashes of Life

Last Strip Show.

CHICAGO (UP)—Minsky's Rialto theater, the last of the big-time burlesque houses, is being prepared for destruction and a sign on the marquee says: "The Rialto presents the greatest stripper of them all—the Speedway Wrecking Co."

Belated Correction.

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—After 41 years of marriage to the "wrong man," Mrs. Pearl D. Stowell of Tulsa can finally prove she is really married to her husband. The way license read, she was married to her husband's brother.

The mixup came to light when Mrs. Stowell, formerly of nearby McCloud, wrote the county clerk for a certified copy of her marriage license. She rounded up witnesses who testified it was George Stowell, not Walter, whom she married Oct. 8, 1912. County Judge William E. Dougherty ordered the license corrected.

Money to Burn.

DETROIT (AP)—Miss Dolores Martin, 21 years old, told Judge John P. O'Hara, she was innocent of forgery because "I burned the money."

She admitted forging and cashing a $27 check but couldn't understand why she was placed on $500 bond to appear for examination Jan. 18.

"I knew I did something wrong, your honor," she said, "but I'm not guilty any more. I burned the money."

DEMOCRATS GOT MORE PARTY AID NEAR END OF '53

Not Enough Gifts Received, However, to Pull Committee Out of Financial Hole.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The financial fortunes of the Democratic party perked up considerably in the final three months of 1953, but not enough to pull the party out of the red.

The Democratic national committee received $446,424 in contributions in the final quarter of 1953, or about $92,000 more than the combined donations for the entire nine preceding months.

These statistics were disclosed in the committee's annual report filed with the clerk of the House. The corrupt practices law requires political groups to provide such data.

Receipts $943,947.

Total receipts of the Democratic committee for the year were $943,947. Expenses during the year totaled $814,916.

But the committee said it started the election-year 1954 with unpaid obligations amounting to $222,782, or about $93,000 more than it had in the cash drawer.

The Republican national committee reported total 1953 contributions of $1,339,538, of which $470,934 was received during the final three months.

Total expenditures for the G.O.P. committee during the year were $1,312,818.

Other reports filed by political groups showed these statistics:

Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon; balance on Jan. 1, 1953, amounting to $246,878; refunds of conelection, $223,592; income for last year, $10,385; balance at the end of the year, $3273.

Labor Group's Gifts.

Labor's League for Political Education: Contributions for the year, $118,862; expenses, $26,737.

National Citizens-for-Eisenhower congressional committee: Receipts for the year's final three months, $50,563; expenses, $41,561.

Democratic senatorial campaign committee: Balance on Sept. 3 of last year, $640; receipts from Sept. 3 to the end of the year, $4500; expenses for the same period, $3521.

National Republican senatorial committee: Receipts for the entire year, $131,635; expenses, $106,705.

MILL TOWN GOES 3342 DAYS WITHOUT A TRAFFIC DEATH

MOORSVILLE, N.C., Jan. 9 (AP)—This mill town of 7218 residents has gone 3342 days without a traffic death. The last one was recorded Feb. 22, 1945.

Kendall, a former military attache at Copenhagen, was wounded in the Rapido river action in Italy in 1944. He formerly commanded the First Corps in Korea.

AWARDED $4000 IN CRASH SUIT AGAINST CLARK GABLE

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 9 (AP)—A jury yesterday awarded a Tucson woman $4000 in a damage judgment against actor Clark Gable.

Mrs. Mary Lemme had sued Gable for $40,000 claiming she suffered permanent injuries in an automobile accident in which Gable's automobile was involved Dec. 7, 1951. He told the court he was attempting to pass a truck-trailer and was blinded by heavy rain.

The verdict of eight women and four men ended a three-day trial in Pima county superior court.

PIGS NOW SOLD BY MAIL ORDER AND ON CREDIT

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—Want to buy a pig, by mail, on credit? A Chicago mail order house, Spiegel, will ship you one—or any number you want.

Spiegel announced pigs for sale in its new spring and summer catalogue. Adolph Buechler, in charge of the pig project, said this is the first time pigs have been offered for sale by mail order, and on credit. They are delivered to the buyer by express.

The pigs sell at $24.95 each, or $22 each when bought in lots of 25 or more. They weigh about 35 pounds and are about seven weeks old when sold.

3 CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH WHEN FATHER LEAVES HOUSE

MEDWAY, Me., Jan. 9 (UP)—The bodies of three small children were found today in the ruins of their home.

The deaths of Maurice Pinkham, 5 years old, and his sisters, Michele Lee, 3, and Connie, 2, brought to 11 the number of young children killed in Maine fires in less than a week.

George Pinkham, the father, told police he was baby-sitting with the children last night and left the house to escort Mrs. Pinkham home from a neighbor's house. When they returned, they found their home a mass of flames.

"There wasn't anything we could do," Mrs. Pinkham sobbed. "We couldn't even get near the kids."

A fourth child, Alec, 10, was attending a basketball game.

3 FREED IN TRUMAN ASSASSINATION PLOT

Two Women and Man Found Not Guilty of Obstructing Justice.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Two women and a man were found not guilty yesterday of conspiracy charges growing out of the attempt to assassinate President Truman in 1950.

Mrs. Mary Correa, 40 years old, and Mrs. Tomasa Flores, 40, screamed hysterically at the verdict, then fainted. Mrs. Correa's husband, John, 45, fell to his knees, beside his wife, tears streaming down his cheeks.

A United States district court jury of 10 women and two men deliberated six hours before acquitting the three of conspiring to obstruct justice in the investigation of the assassination attempt. The trial began last Sept. 16.

Two Puerto Rican revolutionists shot their way to the doorstep of Blair House Nov. 1, 1950, in an attempt to kill Truman and thus dramatize their demands for Puerto Rican independence.

Leslie Coffelt, a member of the White House police force, was killed in defense of the President, who was not directly menaced.

Also killed was one of the assassins, Griselio Torresola. The other, Oscar Collazo, was sentenced to die, but Truman commuted his sentence to life in prison.

The Correas and Mrs. Flores were accused of influencing Mrs. Julia Santiago, 50, to lie to a grand jury about a dinner party at the Correa home. She denied knowing the names of the guests.

The Government contended she helped prepare dinner for the guests, including Collazo, and said the assassination plot was hatched at the get-together. The defense denied any influence was exerted on Mrs. Santiago or that the party amounted to any more than a social gathering.

Death of Mrs. Benes Denied.

VIENNA, Jan. 9 (UP)—Officials of the Czech legation today denied published reports that the widow of the late Czech President Eduard Benes had died.

WOUNDED IN STORE HOLDUP, CAPTURED

Robber Is Shot in Arm by Owner of Liquor Shop on Franklin.

A robber, wounded as he fled from a liquor store at 1710 Franklin avenue early today, was captured a short time later by police, who said he admitted the attempted holdup.

The prisoner, booked as Leo Reeves, 25 years old, a Negro, 2700 block of Gamble street, is in Homer G. Phillips Hospital with a bullet wound in the right arm. He was arrested on the street at Elliott avenue and Stoddard street by Lucas Avenue District police, who had received a radio report of the shooting.

Ralph Carretta, operator of the store, said the man had ordered a bottle of whisky from Miss Helen Johnson, a clerk, and then drew a revolver and demanded the contents of the cash register. Carretta grabbed his own revolver from beside the register and fired five shots. One bullet took effect as the holdup man dashed out of the door.

Two young couples seated in parked automobiles in Forest Park were held up last night by two men armed with revolvers, who fled in an automobile following the holdups.

Robert Lina, a sailor, 5632 Marquette avenue, was robbed of $30 and his watch, while $10 and a watch were taken from his companion, Miss Charlotte Lundstrom, 2007 South Eleventh street. One man struck Lina in the face with a revolver.

The robbers, Negroes, then walked to a second parked machine, occupied by Byron Golfin, 3656 Hickory street, and Miss Jennie Gottsberger, 3126 Russell boulevard. They took Golfin's cuff links and Miss Gottsberger's necklace.

Six persons, including two children, were forced to lie on the floor in a liquor store at 2511 Bremen avenue last night by two armed robbers, who took $250 from Francis Stolte, the proprietor. Present were three customers, one of whom had his children with him.

Mrs. Edward Dodson, 5544 Etzel avenue, was knocked down in the 5500 block of Etzel avenue last night by a man who took a $20 bill from a pocket in her dress, and fled.

Gus Seidel, operator of an apparel store at 2110 South Broadway, and his wife, Sarah, were held up last night by two men, one of whom inquired about a shirt before his companion drew a revolver. The robbers, Negroes, took $120, the shirt and a pair of slippers.

Morris Fadem, operator of a liquor store at 2007 Biddle street, was held up by two Negroes, who fled with $32 and eight bottles of liquor.

Thomas Baird, attendant at a filling station at 2743 Gravois avenue, was robbed of $30 early today by two men in an automobile.

BILLION MORE DEFENSE CUT BY JULY 1 FORECAST

Wilson Also Says Army May Be Cut Below Its 20-Division Strength.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson believes that defense spending can be cut an additional billion dollars by July 1.

This would bring military outlays for this fiscal year below 42 billions, compared with the Defense Department's estimate last spring of $43,200,000,000. Defense spending in the new fiscal year starting July 1 is expected to run between 38 and 39 billions.

Wilson indicated also at a press conference yesterday that the Army may be cut below the 20 divisions presently planned for the 1954 fiscal year which begins July 1. He said the matter "isn't settled yet."

Up to now it had been considered definite that the Army would keep its 20-division strength through fiscal 1955, with reductions to come in later years.

G.O.P. Policy.

Official comment has heretofore centered on cutting so-called supporting forces and desk jobs. But trimming combat strength would be in line with the G.O.P. Administration's long range aim of placing chief reliance on air power and atomic weapons.

The Army has already been ordered to cut from 1,500,000 soldiers to fewer than 1,200,000 by mid-1955.

Wilson outlined the Administration's aim of concentrating a "strategic reserve" of military force in the United States, placing "more reliance on airpower" and shifting emphasis from manpower to atomic and other new weapons "where real military strength comes from." He described the forthcoming withdrawal of two Army divisions from Korea as a part of the plan to bolster home-based reserves.

Reporters pressed him for information on whether the new military plan means eventual troop reductions in Europe and further cuts in the Far East.

Step-by-Step.

"None of these things are going to happen real quick," Wilson said. "We are going to take these things step-by-step depending on the situation that has to be met."

He repeated administration policy on what has become a sensitive point—United States strength in Europe. He said "no consideration is being given to any change" there.

At the moment there is no plan to withdraw a third division from Korea, he said, adding that it will be a "long, long time" before "all" United States troops are out of the Far East.

Asked whether there would be a cut in Army divisions stationed in this country, Wilson said the "whole question" is now under study.

There now are seven divisions in the United States of which five run 40 to 60 per cent of full strength. The Eighty-second Airborne division is the main element in the present Army "strategic reserve," and the First Army division is being built to similar status.

ILLINOIS AFL SEEKS WOMEN'S HELP IN PRIMARY CAMPAIGN

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright 1954.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 — Wives, sisters and daughters of AFL members are being mobilized for door-to-door electioneering in the 1954 congressional campaign.

The Cook county (Chicago) branch of Labor's League for Political Education, AFL political arm, has approved a plan to mobilize women for work in the campaign. The "women of labor" either will be assigned to action directly with the league or operate in an auxiliary of the league.

The plan to mobilize women under the AFL was taken after a plea was made by Joseph D. Keenan, Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the AFL Building and Construction Trades department.

Keenan, former national director of the league, warned that AFL members "must get their wives interested in politics if labor is to get its candidates elected."

Miss Lillian Herstein, a delegate to the Chicago Federation of Labor, who seconded Keenan, declared: "It is crazy to think you can win without the women's vote."

Frank McCallister, director of the labor education division of Roosevelt College, said that the college could train 500 union business agents or others for political precinct work before elections. The primary is April 13. McCallister said that a precinct worker could be trained in six easy lessons.

U.S., RUSSIAN ENVOYS SPEAK OF PEACE TO MEXICO HEAD

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 9 (AP)—The ambassadors of both the United States and Russia conferred yesterday with President Ruiz Cortines—and both spoke of peace.

United States Ambassador Francis White told reporters later that if the peace of the world depended on the United States, there would be permanent peace.

Russian Ambassador Anatole Kulazhenkov said "Russia is fighting for peace" and in the year ahead there should be major progress in solving major problems between the East and the West.

2 Paraplegic Veterans Exiled From Hospital, 'Went A.W.O.L.'

They Must Shift for Themselves for 90 Days as Punishment for Leaving Without Permit.

MEMPHIS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Two veterans, both paralyzed from the waist down, have been ejected from a veterans' hospital here and must shift for themselves for 90 days.

Dr. Hugh Prather, Kennedy Veterans' Hospital manager, said the paraplegic vets were turned out yesterday because they left the Veterans' Hospital in Cleveland, earlier this week without permission.

The 90-day exile from veterans hospitals is the regulation punishment for such action, he said, although the men may visit the hospital for treatment and will be readmitted should they become emergency cases.

Charles Somerville, 21 years old, Point Pleasant, W. Va., and John Mershon, 23, Otway, O., said they "went A.W.O.L." to come to Memphis because they were dissatisfied with the treatment at the Cleveland hospital.

Somerville served in the Navy. Mershon spent 14 months in Korea while in the Army. Both were injured in automobile accidents in the United States when still in service.

They entered Kennedy last Tuesday as "boarders" and were sent packing when Kennedy officials were notified they had broken regulations.

City hospital refused to admit them, since they were not emergency cases. They entered a nursing home and planned to spend their exile as "out-patients" at Kennedy.

"Frankly," said Somerville, "we didn't know there would be this much trouble about it."

The manager of Crile Veterans' Hospital in Cleveland said the pair didn't tell officials they were leaving but added there was little attendants could have done in any event.

"We are not like the military. We can't constrain men from leaving," Manager John C. Phillips said.

The two, in a telephone call to Cleveland, said they weren't satisfied with treatment and believed Kennedy hospital was the best the Government operates. They also told the Cleveland Plain Dealer in a telephone interview that they told a doctor they were leaving and gave the hospital 24 hours notice.

KEY ELECTRICIANS IN ENGLAND PLAN ONE-DAY STRIKES

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Two thousand key electricians, members of a union headed by a Communist labor leader, voted today to support their demands for more pay with a series of lightning one-day strikes throughout England next week.

The strike will hit atomic energy stations and guided missile plants as well as airports, oil refineries and steel factories. The employers' association—the National Federated Electrical Association—has countered with a threat to lock out workers one day for each day on strike.

Frank Foulkes, Communist boss of the electrical trades union, said the men are "fully mobilized and at war stations" for the strike action. He said the threat of a lockout "is a challenge which will be met by the full resources of labor."

The electricians are asking for pay increases of up to 11 shillings ($1.54) a week. They now get an average of 9 pounds 4 shillings and 4 pence ($25.80) a week.

FELLOW PRISONER ATTACKS LEON TROTSKY'S ASSASSIN

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 9 (UP)—Jacques Mornard, assassin of Communist leader Leon Trotsky, was attacked by a fellow prisoner yesterday in the exercise yard of the federal penitentiary, the newspaper El Universal said today.

Universal said Jose Medina Chavez, serving time as an automobile thief and holdup man, attacked Mornard with a club for what he called "personal reasons." The attacker was subdued, the newspaper said.

Mornard has served 13 years of a 19½-year term for killing Trotsky, an exile in Mexico.

BANK OF ENGLAND HORRIFIED BY PICTURE OF FAKE MONEY

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Subway posters advertising a new British film, "The Million-Pound Note," starring Gregory Peck, were called in today.

Horrified Bank of England officials, who could not bear to see anyone but themselves printing bank notes, objected to the reproduction on the posters of a £1,000,000 note.

It mattered not one whit that the objection was purely academic—a £1,000,000 note never has been issued in England.

RESCUERS REACH APPENNINE VILLAGE ISOLATED BY SNOW

MODENA, Italy, Jan. 9 (AP)—Rescuers finally reached the isolated Appennine village of Montemezzano yesterday after a five-day battle with snowdrifts and found all 15 families safe but short of food.

Several other communities in the Italian Alps and Appennines remained cut off in the most violent series of snowstorms in 15 years. The storms have taken at least 12 lives in Italy, blocked hundreds of miles of roads and caused many accidents.

F. A. MIDDLEBUSH RESIGNS AS HEAD OF MISSOURI U.

To Become President Emeritus and Director of New Endowment Fund.

Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University of Missouri since 1935 and a member of the faculty for 31 years, resigned yesterday, effective next June 30.

The resignation, for reasons of health, was accepted by the board of curators, meeting in St. Louis, and Powell B. McHaney, board president, announced that Middlebush, who is 63 years old, would become president-emeritus and director of a new university development fund.

McHaney said the board desired to "preserve for the benefit of the university his experience as an administrator and his wide acquaintance with the university, its problems, its alumni and its friends."

To Name Committee.

A committee of five—three curators, an alumnus and a member of the faculty—will be appointed within two weeks to select a new president, McHaney announced.

Middlebush in his letter of resignation told the board his physician had told him he should curtail his activities, and added that he knew this could not be done for any length of time without injury to the university.

He asked for and was granted sabbatical leave for the 1954-55 academic year.

McHaney said detailed plans for the development fund would be announced soon.

The educator was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., and studied at Western Michigan Normal College. He also took advanced work at the University of Michigan and did research in Europe. After teaching in rural schools he joined the faculty of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., in 1915.

He went to the Missouri institution as associate professor of political science and became dean of the School of Business and Public Administration before succeeding the late Walter Williams as president. Under his administration enrollment rose from 4000 to more than 11,000 and the annual budget from $4,000,000 to $16,000,000.

On National Boards.

The educator has served on several national boards and commissions. President Hoover named him to the Committee on National Security Organization and President Truman appointed him to the United States Naval Academy board of visitors. Since 1937 he had been a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

He has been president of the National Association of State Universities and the Association of American Universities, and has published various works on political science.

'FRENCH LINE' FILM'S RUN TO END JAN. 18

Movie Code Administrator Fines RKO Studio $25,000 Over It.

Plans to show "The French Line," controversial motion picture starring Jane Russell, for an "extended run" at the Missouri theater have been changed and it is to be discontinued Jan. 18.

The decision was made in Hollywood by James R. Grainger, president of RKO and announced here by Edward B. Arthur, St. Louis manager of Fanchon & Marco. By general practice, on an "extended run" a picture is shown as long as it makes a profit—often as long as 10 or 12 weeks.

After the picture had its first showing at the Fox theater Dec. 29—the first showing in the country—Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter denounced it, saying: "Since no Catholic can with clear conscience attend such an immoral movie, we feel it is our solemn duty to forbid our Catholic people under penalty of mortal sin to attend this presentation."

In Hollywood yesterday RKO studio, headed by Howard Hughes, was fined $25,000 by the movie code administrator for advertising and showing the picture without the seal of approval of the production code administration.

Joseph Breen, administrator of the code, said the picture was "offensive because of indecent exposure" in a dance number by Miss Russell, who also said she disapproved of that part.

In a letter to Archbishop Ritter yesterday, Arthur maintained that the code administration had practiced "discrimination," and added: "We know that it has issued seals to many pictures which, in our opinion, are not different in subject matter and treatment from 'The French Line.'"

MATTOON PLANS $1,500,000 SCHOOL EXPANSION PROGRAM

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MATTOON, Ill.—The board of education has announced plans for a 10-point building program for Community Unit District 2, and has indicated a readiness to accept suggestions from the public for changes or improvements in the preliminary proposals.

Including a new high school, the project would cost an estimated $1,500,000 to perhaps $1,900,000.

Replacements for two grade schools, a new four-room Grant Park building, moving all seventh and eighth classes to the present high school, improvements and repairs for other buildings, and the construction of cottage type schools for the first three grades, with plans for the erection of permanent structures fo rthose students, are included in the program.

FORMER HOSPITAL WORKER JAILED AS MURDER SUSPECT

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (UP)—Police today jailed a former hospital employe as a suspect in the killing of Helen Boyle, 24-year-old laboratory technician at St. Michael's Hospital. The suspect was held on a vagrancy charge.

Miss Boyle was found unconscious Wednesday night on the floor of a darkened laboratory on the hospital's sixth floor. Pathologists said her skull bore two fractures, believed inflicted by a length of pipe or a wrench swung with "tremendous force." She died 24 hours later without regaining consciousness.

An autopsy showed she had not been criminally assaulted.

Dr. Geraldine Archer, entering the small laboratory Wednesday night, found the body.

Beside it on the floor was the technician's laboratory record on which she had apparently just started writing the name of a patient.

DRUG FIRM POST REPORTED OFFERED TO GOV. DRISCOLL

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, who leaves office on Jan. 19, has been offered the presidency of Warner-Hudnut Co., Inc., drug and cosmetics manufacturers.

At his office in Trenton the Governor would not confirm or deny this. He said he would make no final plans for the future until he has had a "long vacation."

Elmer Bobst, president of Warner-Hudnut and long a close friend of Gov. Driscoll's, was on a cruise aboard his yacht and not available for comment on reports that a salary of $80,000 had been suggested for the Governor. The reports were that Bobst would become chairman of the board.

214 INDICTED IN TAX PROBE, 101 CONVICTED

Report by Senator Williams Reveals 388 Were Removed or Retired.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 — A total of 214 persons were indicted on criminal charges and 101 were convicted as a result of the sweeping investigations of the Internal Revenue Bureau, Senator John Williams (Rep.), Delaware, told the Senate yesterday.

Of those indicted, 105 were employes or former employes of the federal agency, Williams said, and 109 were "outsiders" who conspired with Internal Revenue officials or employes to defraud the government. Sixty of those convicted were bureau employes or former employes.

Senator Williams reported that in there were 388 employes of the Revenue Bureau who were "separated for cause" or who retired or resigned as a result of the investigations. Senator Williams's report covered the period Jan. 1, 1951, to Nov. 17, 1953.

Of the 388 employes who were fired or quit, 88 were charged with acceptance of bribes or gratuities, 40 were charged with embezzlement, 51 were charged with failure to pay their own income taxes and the remainder were accused of refusing to co-operate with the investigation or incompetence.

The largest number of convictions of employes, 21, was for embezzlement. Other convictions were: conspiracy 14; bribery 9; falsifying and destroying records six; extortion three; false statement under oath two; wrongfully converting money to own use two; defrauding the Government, perjury and evasion of tax, one each.

Senator Williams listed eight collectors as having been fired, or who quit under fire. Three, he said, were charged with accepting bribes or gratuities, three with failure to discharge duties properly and two with personal misconduct.

He did not name the collectors involved in the actions but one presumably was James P. Finnegan, former Collector of Internal Revenue at St. Louis, who is serving a prison term at Terre Haute (Ind.), federal prison for misconduct in office.

Senator Williams said his statistics were supplied by O. Gordon Delk, deputy commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service.

LAMONT URGES OPEN HEARING ON ACCUSATION BY M'CARTHY

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Corliss Lamont, facing a contempt citation by the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, has demanded a public hearing of charges that he refused to answer questions in connection with alleged subversive activities at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

The subcommittee head, Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, asked for the citation Thursday. Lamont had been questioned in a closed session.

Lamont, heir to a fortune left him by his financier father, now lectures at Columbia University. Yesterday, he made public a letter he wrote to each member of the subcommittee asking for a public hearing.

ONE STRIKE IN BOLIVIAN PAPER LEADS TO ANOTHER

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Bolivian capital, a city of 350,000, went without its daily newspapers yesterday because a pro-Communist publisher punched a union officer in the nose.

It began when a dispute developed between the printers on the weekly El Pueblo and its publisher, Fernando Sinani. A representative of the printers' union called at El Pueblo in an attempt to settle the dispute and was received with blows from the publisher.

The printers' union thereupon declared a 24-hour city-wide strike as a protest.

Calling All Space Cadets: Clock That Tells Time on Mars Invented

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Planning a trip to Mars? A timepiece has been invented to give you the correct Mars standard time.

The new clock, unveiled yesterday by the Hamilton Watch Co., tells simultaneously the time, month and year on both earth and its sister planet of Mars. Hamilton said the immediate use for the solar timepiece is uncertain. It was designed for future space travelers.

The watch company disclosed only a few details of the clock prior to its first public showing next Thursday in New York. However, it said the clock has four dials and is electrically operated.

The clock was designed by Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of the Fels planetarium at Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. Dr. Levitt, who has been writing on space traveling for two years, said the integrating of time would be necessary to travel from earth to Mars and return.

4 Countries Allow Voting at 18; Some Put Minimum as High as 25

Others Set 21, 23 or 24 for First Balloting — Georgia Only State in U.S. That Now Lets Teen-Agers Vote.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—If the United States lowers the voting age to 18, as President Eisenhower proposes, it will fall in line with the practice of Mexico, Argentina, Turkey and the Soviet Union.

Those are the only major countries which permit their citizens to start casting ballots at 18. Mexico lets 18-year-olds vote only if they are married. Otherwise they must wait until they are 21.

Switzerland and Germany fix the minimum voting age at 20. Most other countries—including Great Britain, France, Italy and Canada—hew to the practice the United States has traditionally followed and set the voting age at 21.

Some countries feel even 21 years of living do not make a person wise enough to vote. Norway makes its citizens wait until they are 23, Holland and Finland insist on 24. Japan, Spain and Denmark are the fussiest of all. Their minimum voting age is 25.

No country sets an upper age limit on voting. Thus in most of them an 18-year-old is deemed unfit to vote while a man past 100 is welcomed in the voting booth if he is strong enough to be propped up in it.

In this country only Georgia has lowered the voting age to 18. The argument advanced there is the one Eisenhower invoked in last Thursday's State of the Union message:

"For years our citizens between the age of 18 and 21 have, in time of peril, been summoned to fight for America. They should participate in the political process that produces this fateful summons."

Russia, says the Encyclopedia Britannica, let 18-year-olds vote on the theory they are already industrially productive and "the earlier the age at which one begins to vote, within reason, the sooner is one politically educated."

Just what educational advantage there is in voting "yes" for one slate of candidates is not made clear.

The United States Constitution does not fix the age of first voters. At present that is up to the individual states. What Eisenhower wants is a constitutional amendment setting the age at 18 in all states.

2 CRITICIZE PROPOSED SNAKE RIVER DAMS

Reclamation Bureau Man Cites 'Partial Failures' of Similar Projects.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—A Reclamation Bureau engineer testified yesterday that the government has abandoned because of "partial failures" dams of the type proposed for the Snake river by the Idaho Power Co.

Cecil Hoisington and Louis G. Puls, cost estimate and design engineers from Denver, appeared as witnesses at the Power Commission hearing on Idaho Power's application to build three dams in the river on the Oregon-Idaho border.

The Idaho Power projects—rival plans to the federal Hell's Canyon dam proposed in the same area—would be rockfill dams with concrete facings.

Puls said the bureau "has not proposed to build such dams" any more because there were "partial failures in the concrete facings" of two such structures constructed by the agency.

Puls is the designer of the proposed federal Hell's canyon dam.

Hoisington said that three concrete dams would cost more than double Idaho Power Co.'s estimate for its projects.

Hoisington said his estimate of the construction cost of the federal Hell's Canyon dam totaled $356,800,000 under 1951 price levels. Four per cent would boost the total about $14,000,000, he said.

Hoisington said Reclamation Bureau engineers at Boise, Idaho, estimate three concrete dams at Idaho Power's proposed sites would cost $285,700,000. He said the bureau made no estimate for rockfill dams with concrete facings.

Idaho Power has estimated the cost of tjts three rockfill dams at $133,000,000.

Plus said dams of the type planned by Idaho Power were not used for comparison purposes by the bureau.

He said bureau officials believe concrete dams would be better and would cost no more, if as much, as rockfill dams with concrete facings.

ARTIST HARMON WINS $150 PURCHASE PRIZE AT GUILD

James Harmon, Ladue high school art teacher, has been awarded the $150 purchase prize in the 1954 water color exhibition of the Artists' Guild, it was announced today by Mrs. Otie Durbin, executive secretary of the guild. His winning work, which enters the guild collection, is called "Dock Landing, Provincetown." Harmon is a former president of the guild.

Second, $75, went to Melvina Calvert Schworm for "Maj. Dougherty's Warehouse," with third, $50, being given to Eda Lincoln Cushing for "Nocturne." These awards are outright prizes; the pictures remain the aritsts' property.

Jurors were James Green, water colorist and Monticello College art teacher, and Lester D. Longman, art department head and art history professor at State University of Iqwa. The show will open tomorrow with a reception from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the guild galleries, 812 Union boulevard, and will close Jan. 30.

BOYS SOLICIT $100 FOR FAKE GROUP TO FIGHT DELINQUENCY

PERTH AMBOY, N.J., Jan. 9 (AP)—Three teen-age boys yesterday collected $100 for the "town youth organization" before they were arrested by police.

The police charged them with collecting for an organization that doesn't exist and released them in the custody of their parents.

While raising funds the boys told donors the purpose of the non-existent charity was "to help wipe out juvenile delinquency."

Earth Tremor in Chile.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 9 (AP)—A sharp earth tremor shook the cities of Talca and Chilian, south of Santiago, last night. Residents, mindful of a quake which virtually destroyed the towns in 1939, rushed into the streets. There were no reports of damage or injuries.

ROUGH GOING INDICATED FOR PRESIDENT'S PLANS

plishments this year—or lack of them—will go down in the books as those of a Republican Congress, even though Democrats have a margin of one in the Senate, and only four fewer members than the G.O.P. in the House.

Hickenlooper said "the President's message has given the people assurance that he is working in their behalf. He has outlined a broad program, but I never have known Congress to enact every proposal a President suggests."

Senator Cooper (Rep.), Kentucky, who is running for reelection in a state that Eisenhower lost by 700 votes in 1952, remarked "the President has given use the kind of a program we can win with."

However, one Republican Senator who didn't want to be quoted by name said some of his colleagues were grumbling that Congress would have to stay in session all year to act on all the President's requests.

Monroney remarked: "It seems highly doubtful that the reactionary Republicans in Congress will go along with many of the social welfare proposals the President has made."

Halleck Says Congress May Adjust Excise Taxes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UP)—House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck said last night Congress may make "some adjustments" in excise taxes this year despite President Eisenhower's request that they be extended.

"I'm not quite sure from the President's (State of the Union) message whether he insisted all of them be extended," the Indiana Congressman said. "Those he mentioned particularly will be extended, although I wouldn't rule out the possibility of some adjustments."

Halleck also said on the CBS "Capital Cloakroom" radio program that "in many respects we're in trouble" on a farm program.

"It ought to be noted that the President was very careful to say that changes made in existing law must be gradual," he said. ". . . There could be no immediate abrupt reversal. That could be disastrous, not only to farmers but to the whole economy.

"We're going to support agriculture, but at the same time we've got to recognize that where difficulties appear, some reasonable approach to a solution should be made."

Halleck said "there's a concern that more of the top key positions in the Administration haven't been filled with people sympathetic to the new Administration." But he added that G.O.P. Congressmen "at the leadership level and on down the line" are prepared to go to work on Eisenhower's program, and predicted a "substantial part" will be enacted.

HUSBAND AND WIFE KILLED IN ROAD CRASH AT ORAN, MO.

ORAN, Mo. (AP)—John James Shepard Sr., 68 years old and his wife, Edna, 66, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were killed in a headon automobile accident one mile north of this southeast Missouri town Thursday. State police said the accident occurred on State Highway 55 when Shepard's car collided with an oncoming truck while attempting to pass a slow-moving tratcor trailer truck.

The driver of the truck involved in the collision, Charles D. Fausett, Sikeston, Mo., was taken to the Sikeston hospital with two broken ribs.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UP)—One man was killed and two other persons injured in an automobile-trailer truck collision a mile west of Springfield late Thursday. Authorities have identified the dead man as Arthur Jackson, about 50 years old, of Westmoreland, Kan. His wife, Catherine, and their daughter, Nancy, 19, were hospitalized. Walter Paul Horton, 25, Wasco, Ill., driver of the truck, told state patrolmen Jackson ran a stop light and smashed into the side of his truck. Horton was not injured.

BORDER SURVEY IS PLANNED

ISTANBUL (AP)—The Sofia radio says Albania has asked the United Nations to help in setting up a joint Albanian-Greek commission to delineate the border between the two countries.

M'CARTHY GOING INTO CHARGES OF GRAFT IN ALASKA

Will Investigate Reports Government Men Lined Pockets in Northern Projects.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Senator McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, who spent most of last year hunting Reds, moved into a n field today—investigation of charges that Government officials have lined their own pockets out of federally-financed Alaskan development projects.

McCarthy announced yesterday that his Senate Investigations subcommittee will start closed hearings next week to consider reports from its staff members who recently returned after two months in the territory.

The subcommittee has authority to examine any situation where federal funds are involved.

Since McCarthy became chairman, it has been devoting most attention to charges of Communist penetration in the federal service.

Denies Reports.

Recent published reports that the Administration had induced McCarthy to work in other fields brought a flat denial from the Senator.

But he said "there is nothing to indicate that Communism will be an important element" in the Alaska inquiry—the first major project announced for his subcommittee in this new session of Congress.

McCarthy said there was "no significance at all" in this, adding: "This case just happens to be ready now."

Red Inquiry to Go On.

The Senator said his subcommittee will continue its investigation of Communism in several areas.

The Alaska inquiry, he explained, will cover charges "of false claims, bribery, misapplication of Government funds and waste of millions of dollars in various development projects financed directly or indirectly by the Federal Government."

In this connection, he said the subcommittee would examine "the conduct of various individuals who held governmental positions dealing with Alaska to determine whether some of the Alaskan development activities were operated for the personal financial advantage of some of the Government officials involved."

U.S. PLANS MORE ATOMIC TESTS IN PACIFIC SOON

observers other than United States officials concerned."

This was regarded as additional evidence that the Marshall Islands tests—to be held at some unannounced date—will involve highly important developments in the atomic weapons field that this country is not yet ready to show even to its allies.

The last time foreign observers were allowed at a major atomic test was in 1946—before the cold war set in. Then, two Soviet representatives were among several hundred American and foreign watchers and reporters who saw a fleet of warship atom-bombed in the Bikini atoll in the Marshalls.

The announcement said the tests will be conducted by Joint Task Force 7, commanded by Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson.

Pleased With Spring Tests.

First indications that the new tests were on the way came in the AEC's semi-annual report last July. The commission said then that it was pleased with its spring series of Nevada tests, which it said had opened some "very profitable avenues to new and improved weapons."

Testing of standard atomic fission explosions needed to trigger an H-bomb presumably were included in those tests. It also was reported unofficially at that time that AEC had begun large-scale production of materials for H-bombs.

The July AEC report noted that its Pacific proving grounds were being enlarged with the reopening of the Bikini atoll, 180 miles east of Eniwetok, where most recent A-bomb tests in that area have been held. The Bikini island cluster was used last for the 1946 experiments with naval vessels.

AEC's announcement last night did not say whether the coming tests would involve Eniwetok, Bikini—or both.

There have been reports that an entire island vanished at Eniwetok in a 1952 test detonation of a relatively small hydrogen device. These reports have gone unchallenged by AEC.

Some experts think it possible that several islands fringing the 20-mile-wide Bikini lagoon could be atomized by a superbomb.

Observers Far Away.

The results of such a blast would probably have to be recorded on intricate measuring instruments, many of them of automatic radio sending design, while observers stayed far away.

Test structures, such as those used in the 1946 blasts of two A-bombs at Bikini, probably would be unable to survive an H-bomb explosion.

This country already has fired 43 test bombs dating back to the historic shot at Alamogordo, N.M., in July 1945. It has used two in actual war—at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The Russians, unofficial records show, have set off five blasts, including one involving "thermonuclear reactions" — a term used by scientists to describe a hydrogen explosion.

The British carried out their third major atomic explosion last October in an Australian desert.

The Peebles

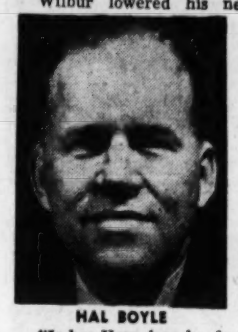

A Wifely View on Cash, Much and Little

By Hal Boyle

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (AP).

"WHAT makes men hold on to their money so?" demanded Trellis Mae Peeble, America's most average housewife.

Wilbur lowered his newspaper until their eyes met across the breakfast table.

HAL BOYLE

"Dear," he said, "a wife's conversation is like a jigsaw puzzle—it takes a fellow some time to make any kind of pattern out of it. What are you trying to get at? I don't know any man who is holding on to his money."

"Well Winthrop Rockefeller is. I read it in the newspaper last night."

"Is he: How does he do it?"

"By refusing to give it to Bobo."

"What's a Bobo?"

★ ★ ★

"OH, DON'T ACT so dumb. Bobo is Winthrop's wife," said Trellis Mae.

"Why won't he give it to Bobo?" replied Wilbur, who was trying to read an article about the electric power problem in India.

"Well, they are separated, and Winthrop moved to Arkansas to forget it all. Now he wants to settle $6,000,000 on her, but his lawyer says Bobo is holding out for $10,000,000. Isn't that a silly thing to quarrel over?"

"It could be a matter of principle,"said Wilbur. "And $4,000,000 is a pretty big principle."

★ ★ ★

"IF SHE TAKES the $6,000,000,'" mused Trellis Mae, "it said she could invest it so as to get about 120,000 tax-free dollars a year. That's not so much, is it?"

"Only about 325 bucks or so a day, including Sundays and the 29th of February during leap years," dryly remarked Wilbur. "But, of course, if she took it in silver dollars it would make quite a jingle in her purse."

"Whose side are you on, anyway?" asked his wife.

"I don't believe in mixing in family quarrels," said Wilbur. "I wish they'd kiss and make up — even if it put 50 divorce lawyers in a breadline."

★ ★ ★

"WELL, I CERTAINLY think you'd be more generous than Winthrop. Remember what you told me when we had our first big quarrel and I threatened to leave you?"

"No, indeed," said Wilbur cautiously.

"You told me I could have half of everything you owned."

"Yeah, that was nice of me. But what did I own then?"

"You didn't own anything. You were even overdrawn at the bank."

"Well," said Wilbur, "if Winthrop was in the same spot I was, I'll bet he'd be just as big a sport about it. You always have to take the circumstances into consideration. Why didn't you leave me anyway?"

"With no carfare and mother 300 miles away?" laughed Trellis Mae. "A girl has to be practical. I wouldn't leave you even if you made the same offer again today to give me half of everything we have in the bank."

★ ★ ★

WILBUR LOOKED AT HER suspiciously.

"Is our account overdrawn again?" he demanded. Trellis Mae nodded.

"I thought this conversation finally would lead somewhere," said Wilbur crossly. "Why can't you be more careful about your check stubs."

"I will," promised his wife.

★ ★ ★

GRUMBLING AS HE started to leave for work, Wilbur held out his hand for his usual $2 lunch money and cigarette allowance. Trellis Mae put only a single dollar in it.

"A dollar for lunch," griped Wilbur. "A mouse can't live on that."

"My mouse can," said his wife. She kissed him.

"G'bye, Bobo," he said.

"G'bye, Winthrop."

And so off to work went Wilbur with the newspaper his wife hadn't read tucked under his arm. In the paper was a story that Bobo had accepted a settlement of $5,500,000.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

CHARLES FROHMAN, famous theatrical producer and "starmaker," was the man who discovered Billie Burke and developed her into one of Broadway's all-time box-office champs. When it became evident that she was falling for the charms of his bitter rival, Florenz Ziegfeld, however, Frohman flew into a rage. Invading her dressing room, he declared, "I am off for London and, to remind you not to get married, I'm going to leave my hat here. Don't do anything idiotic while I'm gone." He had not yet reached London when Miss Burke and "Ziggy" slipped across the Hudson and were married in Hoboken. Frohman cabled her: "Send me my hat." She never saw or heard from him again.

★ ★ ★

A HARASSED YOUNG BRIDE served her husband only a plateful of crackers for dinner. "And I had such a lovely meal planned," she wailed. "But when the steak caught fire and fell into the lemon pie, I had to throw the tomato soup on them to put out the blaze."

Troopers Capture Store Robbers

Two men captured by Missouri State Highway Patrolmen near Kingdom City, Mo., three hours after they held up a Kroger store in Clayton and fled with $9000 yesterday are taken on tour of wooded area in quest of money believed lost during chase. The captives are Charles C. McConnell and James P. Dearborn (right), both Negroes, of Kansas City. A trooper spotted the getaway car near Kingdom City and fired at the fugitives after machine hit a road sign and they fled into the woods. The robbers forced 11 employes into cooler at the store, 8112 Maryland avenue, in executing the robbery. —By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

MARINES PREPARING FOR P.O.W. RELEASE

United States marines stringing barbed wire near Freedom Gate bridge in Korea to help control movement of some 22,000 anti-Communist prisoners of war if they are released as scheduled at 12:01 a.m., Jan. 23. Officers of the United States Eighth Army said they are prepared for "any eventuality" and can handle a disorganized P.O.W. rush southward, if it materializes. The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission is seeking to achieve agreement between the Communists and U.N. command on handling the prison-weary veterans in the anti-Red camp. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

ROYAL CEREMONY AT W. U. MILITARY BALL

Crowned Washington University Armed Forces Queen, Miss Diane Doelling is escorted under saber arch at forty-third annual military ball of the university's R.O.T.C. units at Hotel Jefferson last night. Escorts of the Queen, who received an honorary colonel's commission, are Army Cadet Col. Jerry Blanke (left) and Air Force Cadet Maj. Robert Pisarkiewicz. Miss Doelling, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts, is the daughter of Mrs. Hazel Doelling, 9504 Plainfield drive, Rock Hill. —By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

HUNTERS' BAG

These seven timber wolves were bagged by an International Falls (Minn.) hunting party that used propeller-driven snow-sleds in chase over frozen Rainy lake on the northern Minnesota border. Stanley Swenson, one of the party, poses with bag that is worth $245 in bounties. The largest wolf weighed 140 pounds. The hunters reported finding several carcasses of deer killed by the wolves in the area. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

EARLY TURN-OUT FOR NEW BUS SERVICE

Official send-off—at 5:45 a.m. today—for inaugural Public Service Co. bus of new through-Shrewsbury line, instituted under an order of the Missouri Public Service Commission. Officials joined passengers in the "charter" ceremonies, marked by a coffee-doughnut celebration at Summit and Lockwood avenues, Webster Groves. At doorway are Police Chief Fred Huncke of Shrewsbury; Mrs. Will A. Rosene, secretary, Shrewsbury Transportation Committee, which led campaign for new service from Chippewa loop to connection with Manchester line in Webster, and (on steps), Mayor H. A. Brockland of Shrewsbury. —By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

ENVOY AS WHISTLER

Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador to Washington, sounds off with hand-to-mouth whistle as 5-year-old Julie Nixon, held by her father, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, purses her lips for her own try. Patricia Nixon, 7, appears to be more interested in photographers. The diplomat and the Vice President met at National Press club father-daughter dinner in Washington last night. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

DEMANDS END TO RECIPROCITY WITH INDIANA

Farm Transport Group Seeks Writ to Force Illinois to Cancel Highway Pact.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 9 (INS)—Attorneys for the Agricultural Transportation Association of Illinois charged yesterday in Sangamon Circuit Court that the Attorney General had failed to make pertinent answer to its plea to end highway reciprocity with Indiana.

Judge L. E. Wilhite, hearing the petition for a writ of mandamus to force the Illinois Secretary of State to enforce state laws providing for all vehicle operators—including those from other states where reciprocity of highway use is not entered into with Illinois—to pay license fees, set Friday, Jan. 22, at 9 a.m., as a time for arguments.

Attorney Joseph Londrigan, of Londrigan and Londrigan, Springfield, asked for a judgment in behalf of the plea for the mandamus writ on the grounds the answer of Attorney General Latham Castle "is substantially insufficient in law."

Cites Carpentier Admissions.

Londrigan cited in support of this the claim that Secretary of State Charles Carpentier (1) "admits . . . he is charged with the collection of all license and registration fees and privilege taxes. . . ." (2) That the Secretary admits receipts of information that fully advised him that Indiana had required payment of a "fee or tax to that state by residents of Illinois" and added:

"The answer (of the Attorney General) is evasive, contradictory, inconsistent, ambiguous, duplicitous, and merely seeks to confuse, evade and delay determination of the only legal issue involved, viz., whether the laws of Indiana require the payment of any fee or tax by any Illinois resident in order to be permitted to operate a motor vehicle upon the highways of that state."

Londrigan claimed that the ATA exhibits showed that Indiana had arrested three ATA truck drivers and convicted one (two other cases are pending) for failure to buy an Indiana permit. That, he said, was proof that Indiana had broken the reciprocity agreement and under Illinois statute, Carpentier had no choice but to begin collecting fees from visiting Indiana drivers and owners.

Summary of Issues.

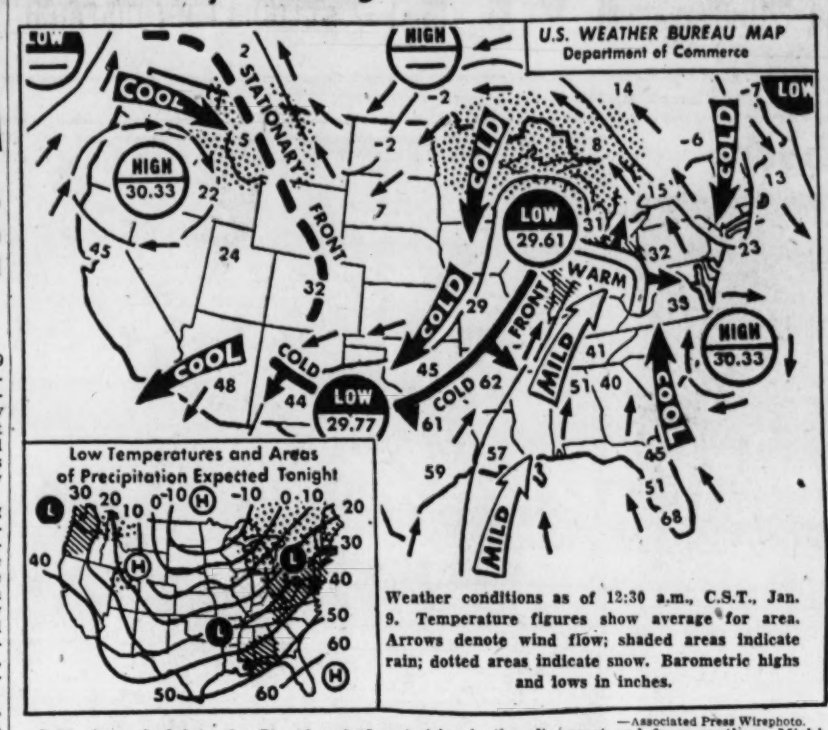

The attorney argues that if the court issues the mandamus writ, -then all Indiana vehicle owners, or drivers, including passenger car operators, must face arrest for failure to have licenses when venturing into Illinois. Londrigan, in his summary of the issues involved, said:

"Since Indiana is assuming plaintiffs (ATA drivers) are engaged in transportation for hire in that state, it is immaterial in this proceeding whether they are in fact doing so, because Indiana residents are not entitled to reciprocity in Illinois, if they require any Illinois resident to pay any tax or fee for operating a motor vehicle in that state, irrespective of the type of vehicle or the business it is used in."

The attorney has argued that there "must be reciprocity for all or for none" and the exchange of privileges cannot be limited by Illinois to passenger cars, excluding trucks of the ATA or any other organization.

The attorney general, in his unsuccessful motion to dismiss the case, said that if the writ of mandamus is granted it will mean that state police will have to establish ports of entry along the border between the two states night and day to arrest Indiana motorists who do not have Illinois licenses and a "state of chaos" will reign.

Mercury Sliding to Low of 10 or 15

Weather conditions as of 12:30 a.m., C.S.T., Jan. 9. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain; dotted areas indicate snow. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Cold air pushed into the St. Louis area today as temperatures fell from 61 at 3 a.m. to 31 at 9 a.m. Yesterday's maximum of 65 degrees at 3:30 p.m. was four degrees lower than the record high of 69, established for the date in 1885.

The St. Louis Weather Bureau predicted partly cloudy to cloudy skies and cold here through tomorrow with temperatures falling to a morning low of between 10 and 15 and rising in the afternoon to a high in the middle 20s.

Over the nation tonight, snow is forecast in New England, the middle Atlantic states, parts of the lakes region and northern Rockies, as shown by the map at left. Rain is expected west of the Cascade mountains, northwest Pacific and Gulf states.

Freezing or below freezing temperatures prevailed this morning from Pennsylvania northward along the eastern coast and from southern Michigan and Wisconsin southwestward into Kansas and the southern Rockies.

Some of this morning's low temperature readings included 17 below zero at Devils Lake, N.D.; 13 below at Caribou, Me., and 7 below at International Falls, Minn. Warmest minimum was 68 at Miami, Fla.

Light snow and some freezing rain fell today from the northern Lakes region to New England.

COMPLETE NEW YORK DOCK TIE-UP LIKELY

AFL Threatens to Close Port Until Rival Union Is Driven Out.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Threats by rival unions today confronted the huge port of New York with the possibility of a complete shutdown until one or the other union is driven from the waterfront.

Police details along the docks were strengthened to be ready for trouble.

The harbor situation was brought nearer the boiling point yesterday with the announcement by the AFL International Longshoremen's Association that it would close the port if its rival, the old ILA, now independent, strikes.

Posing the threat, AFL-ILA executive director Ace M. Keeney indicated his union was ready to seal the port, in such an event, until the ILA is forever driven from the docks.

Keeney said the AFL-ILA "will lead the longshoremen in action that will end only when the gangster rule of this port is completely and utterly destroyed."

The old ILA, which has threatened an all-out dock strike if the National Labor Relations Board acts against it in a bargaining election between it and the AFL-ILA, was kicked out of the AFL for failing to purge itself of racketeering elements.

A lead of 1492 votes is held by the old ILA in the election which was held just before Christmas. However, 4397 challenged ballots are still under examination; and the outcome is in doubt. In addition, the AFL-ILA has petitioned the NLRB to invalidate the election and hold a new one on the ground of coercion and intimidation by the ILA.

Yesterday the ILA filed its own complaint with the NLBR, charging unfair labor practices against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and AFL President George Meany.

Another waterfront development yesterday saw the ILA and its Brooklyn leader, Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, acquitted in United States District Court in Brooklyn of Taft-Hartley law contempt charges.

QUEEN ELIZABETH SEES HIGHEST PEAK IN NEW ZEALAND

WELLINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II flew from New Plymouth to Wellington today and got an air view of snow-covered Mount Ruapehu, New Zealand's highest mountain (9175 feet) and probable cause of its great Christmas eve rail disaster.

Experts say collapse of snow holding back waters in the mountain's crater lake sent thousands of tons of water down the Wangaehu river, which flooded and washed away a railroad bridge. The train, crowded with royal tour sightseers, crashed into a gorge, killing 136 persons.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh got a glimpse also of the cone of Mount Ngannahoe, the country's principal active volcano, but it was not giving off any smoke.

The Queen will open New Zealand's Parliament in Wellington on Monday.

Back to Scene of Crime.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 9 (AP)—Charles R. Scott was arrested last night and charged with stealing an automobile in the 1500 block of Long street. Last year, Scott served nine months for stealing a car in the 1500 block of Long street.

JOHN J. ROOS GIVEN TOP HARNESS RATING

American Horse Shows Association Meeting Ends With Outing at Busch Estate.

John J. Roos of Ladue was given a first and a second place yesterday in the annual high-score awards of the American Horse Shows Association in ceremonies at the Chase Hotel. The association concluded a two-day meeting today with three forums on horse show problems and outing at the Busch estate on Grant's Farm.

With "Regal Aire," Roos took first in the fine harness horse division. His second, scored with "Blue Chips," came in the roadster class. All awards are based on points won throughout the season in shows recognized by the association.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Shinkle of St. Louis placed third among conformation hunters with "Seveven." August A. Busch Jr.'s "Count to Ten" was awarded fifth place in the division.

The Shinkles, with "Understudy," also took a fifth among green conformation hunters, where "Spain's Armada," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robertson MacBain Motch of Keene, Va., placed third. Mrs. Motch is the former Sallie Marie Busch of St. Louis. Mrs. Loula Long Combs, Lee's Summit, Mo., scored third highest among hackney horses with her "Argyll Magician."

Six places were awarded in each of 17 divisions. Trophy awards were won by Miss Roberta Smith, Upper Montclair, N.J., in the saddle horse seat division; John W. Brooks Jr., Anaheim, Calif., in the stock saddle seat class, and Miss Cynthia Stone, Bronxville, N.Y., in the hunting seat category.

Adrian Van Sinderen of New York was re-elected president yesterday. Others re-elected include Ike Lanier, Cleveland, executive vice president, and Fred J. Berkley, St. Louis, vice president. Albert H. Hart Jr., New York, was elected secretary-treasurer.

About 350 delegates from all parts of the country attended the convention, held in conjunction with meetings of the United States Equestrian Team, Inc., and the Missouri Horse Shows Association. Robert E. Lee Hill of Columbia was re-elected president of the state group.

The meeting of the national organization was its thirty-eighth annual convention, which was held here because of the Midwest's rising interest in horse shows as reflected in entry and attendance figures.

MADISON COUNTY SITE YIELDS BONES OF 13 INDIANS

Members of the Sand Prairie Hunting and Fishing Club, who found 13 Indian skeletons with a bulldozer and excavated them with trowel and brush, said today they thought they had found "a scene of massacre and terrible carnage."

Joseph Berta of Collinsville, a printer who has done much amateur digging, said he and Willard Hicks found the skeletons on the shore of Sand Prairie lake in Madison county, and immediately covered them with straw after notifying Washington University anthropologists.

Berta said nine of the skeletons were dismembered, and some skulls have leg and arm bones between their teeth. He thinks the site, containing a number of arrowheads and potsherds, was a campsite attacked by marauders. Nearby, he and Hicks found four more skeletons, buried head to head to form the four points of the compass.

An anthropologist at the university, who has not seen the find, said today the bones between teeth suggested a reburial site, not a violent procedure.

Sweet Defeat.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Jan. 9 (AP)—Defeat tasted sweet to Fred Williams, captain of a touring motorcycle speedway team from England. When his team lost to a South African outfit Williams had to eat his crash helmet—made of chocolate.

Soldiers Give Blood.

FORT HOOD, Tex., Jan. 9 (AP)—Soldiers of the First Armored Division stationed here gave 448 pints of whole blood yesterday for the Red Cross. The donations took seven hours. The call for blood went out after stocks had dropped to a low level because of holiday accidents.

FORMER MATTOON WOMAN TAKES OWN LIFE IN COLORADO

AURORA, Colo. (AP)—The death of Mrs. Mary Louise Holt, 31 years old, formerly of Mattoon, Ill., was termed a suicide Friday by Frank Hill, Arapahoe county coroner.

Mrs. Holt was found dead Wednesday night in her home in this Denver suburb by her husband, Dr. John E. Holt, a physician at Colorado General Hospital, when he returned from an out-of-town trip. Hill said Mrs. Holt's body was found in the water-filled bathtub, her right wrist slashed. A butcher knife and a bottle of sleeping pills, nearly empty, were found beside the tub.

Hill said no autopsy or inquest would be held. The Holts' three children, Margaret, 4, Eleanor, 2, and Daniel, 8 months, were in the house when the body was discovered.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT STUDY PLANNED AT CHESTER

CHESTER, Ill. (UP)—The first step in making a community development study of Chester will be taken next Thursday when volunteers will be chosen to take a census of the community.

Chester became the second Southern Illinois city to start a community development study when a planning meeting was held Thursday night. Eldorado was the first to start a study with aid from Richard Poston of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

The development study committee hopes to start the census in about 10 days. More than 200 persons will be needed for the job. The community development study will be explained fully to Chester residents at the meeting in the high school next Thursday.

BRIDGE CONTEST TOMORROW

The American Contract Bridge League of St. Louis will hold its annual individual championship contest tomorrow at Hotel Lennox. There will be two sessions, the first starting at 1:30 p.m.

First-place, second-place, and sectional trophies will be awarded. Paul H. Katt will serve as director.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha:

MY problem is with my mother-in-law. She is one of those who can't seem to stay out of other people's business. She thinks a wife should just wait on her husband, take care of the children and sit meekly by while he does anything he wishes. We get along fine as long as she leaves us alone. He is a good husband. We could be so happy if she just wouldn't try to keep him tied to her apron strings. What can I do, Martha? Every time I try to talk to him about it he says I am just imagining things. He can't see that she does anything wrong.

WORRIED WIFE.

Dear Martha:

THERE ALWAYS SEEMS TO BE so much trouble between the daughter-in-law and mother-in-law. I have been married 10 years. From the very first I treated my mother-in-law as I would my own mother, made her welcome in our home, asked her opinion and took her advice. Instead of fussing over things, we talked them out and reached an agreement. She loved her son, I loved her son. She was my friend, the best friend I could have. I lost her a week ago, but I lost so much more than a mother-in-law, I lost a very dear friend. If I ever have children, I pray I can be as good a mother-in-law. M. G.

There we have two aspects of the mother-in-law problem. The latter, of course, is an ideal situation and I am sure that Worried Wife—as well as every other daughter-in-law—hopes for just such a relationship as you were able to achieve. But it cannot be done by one or the other alone. Both must accept the responsibility of harmony, and both must do their share to make the household happy.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha:

I AM VERY FOND of a certain boy. I go with him all the time. He seemed very fond of me also but all of a sudden he just acts as though I weren't there or he didn't know me. What do you think I should do to get us together again? BEWILDERED.

You don't say how old you are, but it's natural for teen-agers to focus their attention and affections first on one, then the other, and even though you have been hurt by it, you may have no other recourse than to accept it gracefully. You might invite him to a party at your home with the crowd, but if he has stopped calling you for dates, I'm afraid there's not much more that can be done.

Are you trying to think of a name for that newcomer to the household? For your free copy of Martha Carr's baby names list, write to Martha Carr at the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I Do Not Believe

By Angelo Patri

IT is as important not to believe in certain ideas as it is to believe in others. This prompts me to point out to adolescent boys and girls some of their ways in which I do not believe.

I do not believe that a youngster goes astray because he has inherited a wrong-doing trait. I have seen many, who certainly could not boast of their heredity, grow into fine men and women. It seems to me that the only significant difference between us and dumb animals is that we can choose freely between good and evil.

★ ★ ★

I DO NOT BELIEVE that environment necessarily creates character or that children reared in hovels or slums are more than likely to become wayward. I have known many children who grew up in the poorest section of a big city and who developed into fine citizens, some of them leaders in various fields.

I do not believe that persons who indulge in shrewd, deceitful, dishonest tactics prosper for long—sooner or later their fall is bound to come, with exposure for their trickery.

To the girls, I would say that I do not believe that "glamour" is the keynote of what appeals to young men who consider marriage from the serious viewpoint it deserves. In some instances "looks" are only on the surface and they disappear with the first rubbing of a sponge.

★ ★ ★

I DO NOT BELIEVE that popularity is the key to a young man's heart; rather the key is a combination of sincerity, wholesomeness, strength of spirit and kindliness—an attractive personality.

I do not believe in hasty marriages for young people. They should think twice—aye, 100 times—before entering into a matrimonial agreement.

And now let me say that I do believe that all intelligent young people in this land can, if they choose, attain their goal, or close to it. If they do fail, it is because of themselves, not due to their parents or grandparents, nor to the residential area in which they were brought up.

Good luck to you and may you make the right choice in what you undertake.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A READER tells me: "Recently, I bought a wedding present for a friend of mine and as she received a duplicate, I suggested she change mine for something else, which she did. In its place she selected a much more expensive item. I would like to know if I must pay the difference?"

No, you cannot be expected to pay more than the cost of the present you gave her. If the one she selects to replace it is more expensive, she is responsible for the difference.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: Who is supposed to pay for the pictures taken at a wedding—the groom or the bride's family? We are having an expensive photographer at the wedding who will take quite a number of candid pictures which will be made up into an album. The cost will be well over $100. I am the bridegroom and have been told by the bride's mother that these pictures are my expense, since the album will be ours. Is this true?

Answer: Unless you suggested these pictures and ordered the photographer, they would be a part of the wedding expenses and the obligation of the bride's family.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: The other day I went to see an acquaintance of mine and found that a bridge game was going on? Please tell me what I should have done?

Answer: You should have said you'd come again soon, and left at once. On no account should you have interrupted the game.

Few Tips on Overcoming Blackheads

"WHAT can I do about blackheads?" bemoans a teen-ager. "I've tried everything but they keep on coming and they just look horrid!"

Look over the following suggestions and see whether there is something you haven't tried. Since blackheads are frequently an indication of over-active glands, the treatment period must be continued persistently. Daily care is what counts.

★ ★ ★

ALWAYS HOLD a washcloth wrung out of hot water over the face for a minute or so before you start the actual washing. This helps to soften the oil in plugged pores.

Using a mild soap worked into a rich lather, wash your face with a rotating motion, working the soap into it with a rough washcloth, a soft complexion brush or your hands. Then rinse thoroughly. These washing sessions are needed three to six times a day.

A few blackheads may be removed each day immediately after the hot-water softening and the scrubbing with soap. They must never be squeezed out, but pressed out. With a piece of cotton dipped in alcohol and placed over the tips of the forefingers, gently press on both sides of the blackhead. If the plug is stubborn, give up—then try it again the next day.

Always disinfect the area thoroughly with alcohol following removal.

★ ★ ★

ON BADLY affected areas, usually around the nose, mouth and across the forehead, use a friction wash once daily. Ask for cleansing grains at your favorite cosmetic counter. Pour some into one hand, add enough water to make a paste and then rub the paste gently over your skin. Rinse with water. If the condition is fairly mild, use the cleasning grains only once a week.

Every three or four days use a prepared facial mask (also obtainable at cosmetic counters) to discourage new formations and help dislodge old ones.

Ask your doctor about a diet and also about a medicated salve or lotion to be used nightly.

After just a few weeks of this treatment you'll see such noticeable improvement that you'll be delighted.

Fix It Yourself

Notes on Tile.

OUR friends the people who make clay and ceramic tile have sent us a note to the effect that most people who have tile in their bathrooms or kitchen don't know the proper method of keeping same clean.

After a good deal of research the tile people have found that if you wash tile with ordinary soap and water the soap will often leave a hard scum on the tile much the same as it will on clothes assuming, of course, that the water is moderately hard. They suggest that you use a soapless detergent or washing soda on both floor and wall tile.

Another thing that can cause people with a tile floor a hard time is what to do with the mortar joints between the tile when they become darkened through the absorption of dirt and dust.

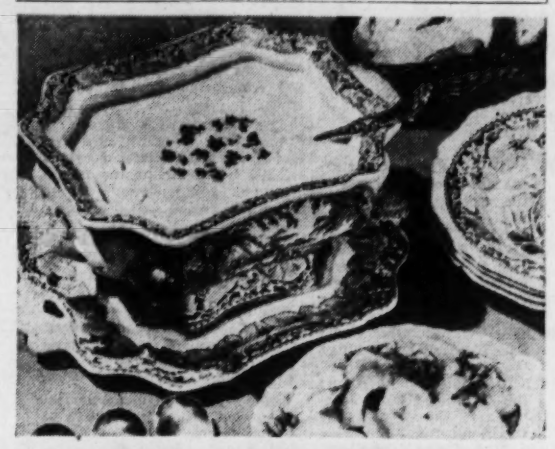

If you don't let things go too far the joints can be cleaned by scrubbing with a fiber brush and a mild household scouring powder. Needless to say, you don't want to use a harsh abrasive on these joints because this might scar the tile.

Often you can lighten up the mortar joints with a household bleach. When this fails it's possible to soften up the mortar with some muriatic acid and then scrape it out with a sharp pointed tool. After this, you can install white mortar or white tile cement.

Your Food Problems

Tasty Soups

By Edith M. Barber

A CHOWDER SERVED IN AN OLD-FASHIONED TUREEN CAN BE RICH ENOUGH TO SERVE AS A MAIN DISH.

CHOWDER and cream soup each have their own distinctive personalities. A cream soup is smooth, while a chowder always contains chopped vegetables and often meat and fish. It is often called a full meal soup, as it is hearty enough for a main dish.

Certain soups might be called compromises. One is the corn soup for which the recipe is given today. Another is one prepared by using condensed soup as a base and adding other ingredients combined with it. Any leftover vegetables, meat or fish may be used, and the condensed soup is thinned with more than the usual amount of milk. Leftover chopped meat of any type will add savor and satisfaction.

By combining whatever materials you have on hand with a certain quantity of diced potatoes, you will probably never have exactly the same soup. If I have even a small amount of cooked chicken or veal and, perhaps, some gravy left over, I am sure to use it with chowder for lunch. With plenty of heated crackers and a salad, we will have an easy meal.

Corn Soup.

Ingredients: One and one-half cups canned corn, one cup meat broth, or one cup water and two bouillon cubes; two and one-half cups rich milk, one and one-half tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon minced onion, two tablespoons butter or margarine.

Cook corn in broth 10 minutes. Force through sieve. Combine with milk, tapioca, salt, medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Add butter or margarine. Garnish each serving with chopped parsley, if desired. Yield: Four to six servings.

Chicken Vegetable Chowder.

Three tablespoons butter or margarine, one medium-sized onion, sliced; one cup diced potatoes, 1 cup diced celery, one cup diced carrots, three cups water, one-half teaspoon salt, three cups milk, one cup diced cooked chicken or veal, one teaspoon paprika.

Melt butter or margarine. Add the vegetables and cook two minutes over low heat. Add water and salt. Cover and cook about 10 minutes until potatoes are tender but still firm. Add milk, meat and leftover gravy, if on hand. Heat thoroughly. Test for seasoning and serve sprinkled with paprika. Yield: six servings.

My Day

Bon Voyage Gesture

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

THIS week I attended a dinner given as a bon voyage gesture to Algernon Black, head of the Ethical Culture Society. He and his wife and youngest boy are off on January 22 for a sabbatical year.

Mrs. Roosevelt

Having known John Eliot, whom many people in this city will never forget because of his remarkable personality and the work which lives after him in the Hudson Guild Neighborhood House, helped me understand Mr. Black. Mr. Eliot touched the lives of many people but perhaps he had the greatest influence over two young men—one Mark McCloskey, and the other Algernon Black. Something of John Eliot's spirit lives in them.

★ ★ ★

ONE COULD NOT, of course, just give a goodby dinner to a person like Mr. Black. There had to be a purpose connected with it, and what could be better than to get some contributions for the Encampment for Citizenship which he has fathered? They need money for scholarships to run it for the coming summer, so what would lighten the burdens carried by Algernon Black better than to be presented with some money for his pet project? The gift was presented by Mrs. Politzer, chairman of the board running the encampment.

Mrs. Politzer made her presentation in a most delightful speech addressed to the three members of the party. Many persons present said a few words which I hope gave pleasure and comfort to the guest of honor—enough at least to compensate for the discomfort which all praise gives him. None of us who were there will forget the atmosphere which was one of good fellowship and admiration for a fine person.

★ ★ ★

MY READERS might like to know a little about this Encampment for Citizenship which was established eight years ago, a pilot project in democratic education. Young people of every racial strain in the United States spend six weeks together studying the role of the citizen in a free society, how to function, how to learn about their community, how to know each other as human beings and work and live on a democratic basis. The young people come from all over the United States and most of them will testify that it is a valuable experience.

Benjamin Cohen of the United Nations testified on the impact which the encampment and its students had on him as a speaker and I can testify that meeting with this group of young people each year, as I do, is one of the most interesting experiences that any older citizen can have.

There are lots of accompaniments for first-course cheese dips. Some of them are potato chips, pretzel sticks, celery wedges, carrot sticks, small crackers, Melba toast and tiny thin slices of salty rye bread.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

ONE of the objections cited against match-point duplicate by devotees of rubber bridge is that logical, imaginative boldness is often punished rather than rewarded at the match-point game. Here is an illustration:

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

	♠Q65 ♥42 ♦KQJ108 ♣K95
♠KJ10 ♥AKQ753 ♦6 ♣1082	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠2 ♥1098 ♦7532 ♣QJ643
	♠A98743 ♥J6 ♦A94 ♣A7

Every South became declarer at a game in spades, usually via this sequence:

South	West	North	East
1♠	2♥	3♦	Pass
3♠	Pass	4♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Every West opened the heart king, and at seven of the eight tables continued the heart suit. After that, the various declarers merely gave up a trick to the trump king and could claim the balance.

One West, however, tried to defeat the four-spade contract. At trick 2 he shifted to his singleton diamond. Then, when declarer played to the spade ace and returned a spade toward dummy, this West put up the spade king and UNDERLED his remaining heart honors, his hope obviously being to find East with the heart jack. Then a diamond would of course let West ruff for the setting trick.

In view of the fact that there was a 50 per cent chance that East held the heart jack — so minor a card would not have affected the bidding, one way or the other—this particular West deserved better luck. A 50 per cent chance to defeat the contract was surely worth considering, even at duplicate, when the cost could be no more than 30 points if the play went wrong. In this case, however, imagination and boldness were severely punished; this particular East-West came out with a cold zero on the board by giving South an overtrick.

TB Death Rate Decline in '53

By J. Earl Smith, M.D.

St. Louis Health Commissioner

THE beginning of a new year is an appropriate time to look back on the previous 12 months to see how we are progressing in public health in St. Louis.

One of the most encouraging facts seen in our health inventory of 1953 is the remarkable reduction in the tuberculosis death rate in the past year.

Last year there were 159 resident deaths from tuberculosis—a rate of 18.3 per 100,000 population—the lowest rate ever recorded here. This compares with 222 deaths and a rate of 25.7 in 1952.

When one compares the latest figures with the rate of 174.9 in 1900, it is evident what great progress has been made in combatting tuberculosis.

★ ★ ★

UNDOUBTEDLY the great reduction in the past year reflects the effectiveness of the new drugs used in treating tuberculosis. Certainly the medical profession is better able to cope with this disease today than ever before.

Obviously, however, tuberculosis must be found before it can be treated; and it must be found in its early stages if modern treatment methods are to be most effective.

Although tuberculosis rates have declined, the disease is still a serious public health problem, ranking ninth as a cause of death. Further reduction of the tuberculosis death rate depends upon finding more cases and bringing them to treatment while the disease is in its early stages. More than ever before, an intensified case-finding program assumes major importance.

Usually a person has no reason to suspect that he has tuberculosis until the disease is in a well-advanced stage.

A simple X-ray of the chest, however, can detect the disease in its early stages; thus a chest X-ray is the most important single method used in finding tuberculosis. As part of its case-finding program the Health Division maintains X-ray departments in four of the city's five health centers.

★ ★ ★

ALSO PLAYING a major role in the local case-finding program is the Tuberculosis and Health Society, an organization whose important public health work is supported solely by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question 1.

YES. According to Gladys Groves and E. A. Ross, such persons become either spendthrifts or misers. They try to compensate for their feelings of inadequacy by foolish "money behavior." Wives buy beyond their means and husbands spend on expensive autos, clubs, etc., or else become tightwads. In picking a mate, first discover his or her "money behavior."

Answer to Question 2.

It does to me. A recent report by two doctors explains that waking up is a "physical stress," causes a release of hormones and raises blood pressure. The same reaction occurs when you are angry or frightened. It prepares the body either to run or fight. If facing the new day looks tough, the stress is greater.

Answer to Question 3.

Yes, as well as an economic and medical problem. Health Information Foundation states that our population has increased 18 per cent in 15 years, but the number of people over 65 has increased 60 per cent. By 1975 there will be 20,000,000 people over 65, 150 per cent more than in 1935 — comparatively just yesterday! Industry, education, economics and politics must develop a new psychological attitude toward old age.

For a copy of the booklet, "HOW TO PICK A MATE," send 15 cents (coin only), plus a self-addressed, stamped envelope (give name of city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, care of the Post-Dispatch.

2,000,000 OR MORE UNEMPLOYED IN U.S.

413,300 Initial Claims for Aid—New Wave of Layoffs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—A Department of Labor report indicates that more than 2,000,000 Americans may be out of work.

The department's Bureau of Employment Security said yesterday its state offices received 413,300 intial claims for unemployment compensation during the week ended last Saturday. This is nearly 20 per cent higher than the previous week and represents the largest weekly volume of such claims since January 1950.

The 413,300 figure is in addition to 1,589,125 workers covered by unemployment insurance who were reported jobless in the previous week.

Some of the previous claimants probably have succeeded in getting new jobs, officials pointed out. However, unemployment insurance covers only about 36,000,000 out of the nation's 60,000,000 employed and some of the uninsured workers doubtless have lost jobs, too.

Important segments of the heavy industry were hit by a new wave of layoffs this week.

Made idle were workers in automobile plants, steel mills, railroads and electrical manufacturing plants. The textile, farm equipment and rubber industries also have been affected. Railroads in recent weeks have laid off about 18,000 employes.

Michigan appeared the hardest hit, with the jobless listed at 142,000. At the Plymouth division of Chrysler Corp. and the automotive body (Briggs) division, 7650 workers were taken off the payrolls yesterday. Hudson Motor Co. laid off 4500. Studebaker Corp. said in South Bend, Ind., it would lay off 3000 to 3500 because it plans to cut production.

The Army announced cutbacks in its truck and trailer production program which it said will save about $140,000,000. Without giving figures on the number of vehicles, it said it is halving the number of trucks remaining to be delivered and reducing outstanding trailer orders by one-third.

CATTLE HIGHER ON WEEK; HOGS RECOVER FOR STEADY CLOSE

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Jan. 9 —(USDA weekly review of the local livestock market.)

Prices were strong to 50c higher as week ended Friday than the previous week's close on steers and heifers with a liberal quota showing the full upturn despite increased marketings. Cows found active selling and fully steady prices some commercials up 50c, while bulls were held to a steady basis. Vealers were steady most of the period, showing a closing $2.00 decline, with slaughter calves weak to $1.00 lower. Replacement steers in very small numbers showed little change in price. Most choice steers sold at $22@24, average choice 1028-lb. at $24.25, high choice and low prime 1279-lb. steers $25.25. Good and low choice steers bulked $19.50@21.50, commercial and low good $16.50@19. High choice to prime 901-lb. mixed yearlings brought $24, good and choice largely $18.50@22.50, commercial and low good $15@18. Utility and commercial cows went mainly at $10.50@13. Utility and commercial bull were maintained at $13@15. Individual head of prime vealers in very small numbers went at $33@35, good and choice for the week largely $25@32, commercial and good $17@24. Top prices ranged from $24.75 Monday to $26.25 for one load and a part load Friday. For the week, bulk of 180 to 230 lb. barrows and gilts sold at $24.50@26, 240 to 270 lb., $23.50@25.50, 270 to 360 lb., $22.50@24.50, 150 to 170 lb., $23.75@26, and a few 120 to 140 lb pigs sold at $23@24.75. Lambs showed gradual decline for week, finally closing off 50c to extremes $1.00 lower; no change on the few yearlings and aged sheep. Over third of lambs exceeded 100 lb. and about 15 per cent were 110 lb. and over, including several shipments 115 to 121 lb. Weighty lambs discounted sharply but unevenly, same weights often selling 50c@$1 apart. Top $21.25 early for about 300 lambs; closing top $20.50. Bulk choice and prime lambs $19@21 which took in 85 per cent of crop. Over 65 per cent sold $20@21, sales under $20 being mostly heavy. Very little under $18.50 except sprinkling cull and utility at $15@17.50. Scattered sales No. 1 pelts $19@19.50; a few yearlings $16.75@17.

LIVESTOCK ELSEWHERE

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (INS)—Livestock prices were irregular at Midwest markets during the first week's trading of 1954.

Larger supplies, including stock which farmers had been holding back until the new year for tax purposes, were a generally bearish factor in the trade. However, a greatly improved demand for dressed meats gave considerable support to live animal prices, the Department of Agriculture reported.

Receipts of cattle at 12 markets totaled 266,000 against 208,000 during the previous holiday week and 245,000 a year ago.

Numerous choice steers and yearlings were available from $22 to $25 at Midwest markets, with many high-choice and choice to prime offerings up to around $27. The extreme top on heifers was $27.50, paid for prime grade at Chicago.

Nearly 350,000 hogs were on sale at 12 major markets including the biggest Monday receipts in a year at some terminals. Receipts the previous holiday week were 289,000, while offerings a year ago were 455,000.

Top prices for hogs for the week were from $26 to $26.75, with closing peaks ranging from $25.25 to $26.25. The top at Chicago of $26 was the second highest on record for January. Closing bulk sales of choice 180- to 240-pound butchers at various markets were from $24 to $26. Sows closed from $20 to $23 for most part.

The general market for slaughter lambs closed 50 cents to $1 lower, but some terminals showed gains ranging to 50 cents. Choice and prime lambs weighing up to 105 pounds sold from $19 to $21.50 during the week.

STOCKS ADVANCE IN YEAR'S FIRST WEEK

Prices, However, Are Down From the Best Levels at Close.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (UP)—Stocks advanced in the first week of 1954 but closed the period well below their best levels. At the highs set on Tuesday, the industrials were at their best since last March 27 and the rails and utilities, the best since mid-December. The market gained on Monday as tax loss selling was out of the way. Many recently depressed low-priced issues snapped back sharply. Further substantial gains were set on Tuesday after President Eisenhower in a national broadcast had vowed to use "every proper means" to sustain basic prosperity.

Up on the Week.

As the time approached for the President's address on the State of the Union delivered at mid-day Wednesday the market began to sag. Selling increased after the message and final prices for the week were down considerably from the Tuesday levels.

At the close of the week, the Dow-Jones industrial average stood at 281.50, up 0.61 from the last day of 1953; rails, 95.14, up 1.11; and utilities, 52.55, up 0.51.

Transactions averaged only 1,418,000 shares daily contrasted with a daily average for the four days of last week of 2,062,500 shares.

Bonds generally were higher with industrials making the best showing in the higher grades. Income rails were in demand.

The decline late in the week reflected several things. In the first place, traders felt that the market had about discounted the main points of the President's address.

In the second place, there was a chill administered the market when Chrysler unexpectedly announced layoffs for Monday.

Thirdly, the market had entered the 285 level in the industrial average where it has met opposition twice previously in less than a month.

Hurdle is Ahead.

The 285 hurdle is said to be a high one and hence the market experts were not surprised at the turnabout in the main list.

The one favorable item as they saw the market was the reduction in volume which indicated there was not a great deal of stock pressing for sale on a decline.

Despite the selloff from the highs, many issues scored wide gains especially in the high-priced groups. The main list showed advances running to more than 2 points.

A total of 1017 issues showed gains. That was the most advancing since the week of Dec. 22, 1950. There were 259 declines and 135 unchanged out of the 1411 issues traded.

Despite its setback Chrysler held a rise of nearly a point. General Motors was up a fraction. The steels firmed. So did the oils. Several of the latter had gains running to more than 2 points. Lion Oil rose more than 4 points.

The chemicals furnished two weak spots too—du Pont and Union Carbide, each down more than 2 points.

Most of the rails closed the week with advances ranging to more than a point.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP) — Average hourly earnings of factory workers were reported today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics at $1.79 in December, equal to November's record high.

THE pupils of a fifth grade class are puzzled about the motion of the earth and how it could influence a jet plane.

They ask:

"If the earth turns eastward at the rate of 1000 miles an hour, and if a jet plane goes eastward at the same speed, why doesn't the jet plane stay over the same spot?"

* * *

IT IS TRUE that the earth spins eastward at the rate of about 1000 miles an hour at the equator. The spinning motion is what gives us day and night.

A few weeks ago, a rocket plane made a better speed than that. The rocket plane, which differs somewhat from a jet plane, made a speed of more than 1600 miles an hour!

Let us suppose that we could travel eastward along the line of the equator at the rate of 1000 miles an hour, either in a jet or a rocket plane. Then we could circle the globe in 24 hours.

The question, however, is why the plane would fail to stay at the same spot. The answer has to do with gravity. Things which are in the air are carried along by gravity, as are those on the ground.

* * *

IT HARDLY would be a good idea to toss a ball in a railway car, but let us suppose that you and a friend were in an otherwise empty coach, and had a soft rubber ball. You then could play catch in about the same way as on a playground. The motion of the train would fail to offset the motion of the ball.

If you threw the ball in the same direction as the train moved, the ball's total speed would be the speed of your throw added to the speed of the train.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX.

HOW much of the lowdown had Peter Bradley told Mark, Iris wondered, as they walked around the moon-flooded pool.

"You could have seen me any time in San Francisco," she reminded him. "You didn't have to follow me down here."

Mark pressed the hand he still held.

"Darling, I know. But I had made up my mind to see you. Have you forgotten how you doubted me?"

She had forgotten nothing but there might have been extenuating circumstances, she now admitted.

"I tried to tell you that at the time," he said.

"But you didn't tell me what they were. And it hurt me to think you'd go straight from me to Pat."

"Can't you take anything on faith?" he inquired.

Iris did not reply. They were deadlocked again. Then she remembered that Claire had warned her that Mark would not be nagged into confiding in anyone. How much did it matter to her? Hadn't she suffered enough? But on the other hand if she couldn't trust him. . . .

"Would it make any difference if I told you that I haven't seen Pat since that night?"

Iris cried, "Oh Mark darling! Do you mean that?"

* * *

PUTTING his hands on her shoulders Mark turned her so that she was compelled to face him. "It's true, although I swore I'd never tell you. I've been working and I've been in no mood for any romance. I was a bit fed up with both of you," he admitted, "and it didn't help any to know you were going with Pete Bradley."

"Peter and I are very good friends," she informed him.

"Pete's in love with you. He told me so last night. He also told me you had refused to marry him." Mark grinned. "And he added a few fancy names he had thought up for me. Pete's a great guy and I never appreciated him more than I do this minute. We've wasted a lot of time, Iris, but maybe it was necessary to straighten things out in our own minds because in spite of everything I do love you."

Her arms crept around his neck. "And I love you, Mark. I always have."

"Then what are we waiting for?" he asked, kissing her.

At that moment Claire appeared, turning on the lights for their departing guests. The swimming pool was in plain view of the patio. "We must go," Iris whispered.

* * *

RETURNING to the house she recognized the questions in Claire's eyes. But Iris was not ready, yet, to confide in her. Mark's kiss was still too recent. So she said she was tired and insisted on going upstairs with Claire and Jim.

Mark said, "I'm tired, too. But how about riding with me in the morning, Iris? I understand the extravagant Harringtons have a couple of new horses."

"I promised to ride with Claire," Iris said, "but if she doesn't mind."

Claire said quickly, "Of course not. I'd like to sleep late myself but Chan will be here to fix coffee for you before you go."

They thanked her and Iris closed her own door, grateful to be alone. She told herself she would never be able to sleep. Mark had followed her to Atherton and told her he loved her. Surely now everything would be different. He hadn't mentioned marriage but he would. The fact that he had not seen Pat since their quarrel was proof that he had changed.

The next morning, wearing the new boots and the riding clothes Claire had loaned her, Iris joined Mark in the breakfast room for the coffee Chan had made. Mark looked as happy as she did. They could see the horses tied to the fence outside. Just before they had finished their coffee the telephone rang and Henry Chan answered it. He returned to the breakfast room saying, "It's for you, Mr. Sutton."

Mark frowned. "Find out who it is and tell them I'll call later," he directed.

They could hear Chan delivering this message and returning. "It's Mrs. Fenton," he said, "and she wants to talk to you now. She says it's important."

Iris told herself it didn't matter, but it did. How did Pat know where he was? New doubts assailed Iris as she heard Mark's voice at the telephone.

"Hello, Pat," he said, and after a moment during which Pat did the talking Mark said, "So you've been to Los Angeles? When did you return?"
